Mystery Blaze Ruins Los Ranchitos Home

$100,000 Fire; Man Is Sought

A fire visible for 20 miles destroyed a rambling $100,000 home in Los Ranchitos area at the edge of San Rafael last night.

Marin County Fire Department units fought over an hour to contain the blaze, which broke out at 9:15 p.m. in a two-story, unoccupied house at 97 Glenside Way.

At times, flames jumped 75 feet away, and wafting sparks ignited surrounding brush and threatened three nearby homes.

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom, terming the fire of suspicious origin, called in the sheriff's office to investigate, after a nearby resident told him that a young man, appearing excited, paused at his residence to report the fire, then jumped into a late model car and sped off.

NO INJURIES

The mystery man was sought for questioning.

Damage to the home, owned by the Northwestern Savings and Loan Association, estimated in conflicting reports as $75,000 and more than $100,000. No injuries were reported.

Five county fire units answering the alarm had difficulty getting to the scene, according to Bloom, because sightseers had clogged the narrow, hilly road leading to the house. Traffic also was slowed along Highway 101 as motorists pulled off the road to gawk at the spectacle.

NEIGHBORS IN PERIL

Bloom, who placed damage at $75,000, said the second-story of the home was ablaze when units from the Woodacre, Santa Venetia and Lucas Valley stations arrived.

Soon, the entire dwelling was engulfed, Bloom said, and brush fires in the area broke out. When homes at 91, 99 and 100 Glenside Way were threatened, firemen were stationed to wet down their roofs.

The brush fire was quickly extinguished.

"We were lucky it wasn't summer when the brush is very dry," Bloom said. "Otherwise, we would have had a real problem."

MYSTERY REPORT

Bloom, unsure of the cause of starting point of the blaze, said authorities sought to question the mystery man, described as between 20 and 22 years old, between five-feet eight-inches and 10 inches, weighing between 130 and 140, and with dark hair.

Wearing white dungarees, black loafers, and a white ski parka, he appeared at a residence on Glenside Way about 9:15 p.m. and excitedly told the occupant, whose name was witheld by the sheriff's office: "I just

Pakistan Air Crash Kills At Least 11

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—A Tokyo-bound DC-4 airliner being used as a car ferry crashed into a bridge crowded with traffic shortly after takeoff today from Karachi airport.

First reports from the scene conflicted. But at least four of the six crew members were dead as well as seven Pakistanis who were crossing the bridge.

The Carvair airliner, owned by the Paris-based French Air Transport Company, plowed into railway tracks on the bridge, demolishing a truck and two motorized rickshaws.

Within seconds, the entire bridge was enveloped in flames. Wreckage was scattered over a radius of 220 yards.

Among those reported killed were a rickshaw driver and his two passengers, three workers and a truck driver.

Eyewitnesses said the aircraft tried to gain altitude shortly after takeoff then faltered and plunged onto the crowded bridge running by the airport.

Governor Wants Tax Hikes On Smokes, Liquor, Income

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed today a $946-million California tax increase with which he hopes to balance a record budget of over $5 billion.

The Republican chief executive wants to raise taxes on personal income, sales, liquor, cigarettes and other tobacco products, and banks and corporations.

DIRECT RELIEF

The governor offered to return $120 million worth of benefits to residents of the nation's most populous state in the form of direct property tax reductions, in cuts averaging 6.5 per cent.

In addition, he called for $95 million more in aid to local government, intended to be a form of indirect property tax relief.

It's the first time in 33 years that direct relief has been proposed.

Reagan blamed the size of his request on "the inadequacy of the financing" of the previous Democratic administration of former Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Reagan's tax package far outstrips Brown's 1959 program of about $250 million, the previous record.

BUDGET SOARS

The first term Republican chief executive couples his tax plan with bad news about his budget.

It now exceeds $5 billion—a record and some $400 million higher than the $4.62 billion he asked for Jan. 31. Reagan added money for local schools, state employee pay raises ($39 million), retired teachers' pensions ($10 million), tax relief and the state's financially troubled medical aid program ($45 million).

"Given unquestionable evidence the money will be wisely and efficiently used, I feel certain that the people of California will shoulder this additional tax burden," Reagan said in a

Guerrilla Attack In Delta Area Leaves Six GIs Dead

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas made two attacks on U.S. forces in the Mekong Delta before dawn today, killing six Americans and wounding 25. One other American was missing, and two South Vietnamese platoons suffered heavy casualties.

A 15-minute mortar barrage of 80 rounds hit the first major American base established in the delta about 2 a.m. catching most of the soldiers asleep. The barrage killed two and wounded 23 at the 9th Infantry Division's Dong Tam camp some 40 miles south of Saigon.

It was the first shelling of the camp since 9th Division infantrymen moved into it in late January. The camp is about one mile square, on ground dredged from the Mekong River, and is surrounded by paddy land largely controlled by the Viet Cong at night.

Another 9th Division post was hit by mortars and small-arms fire two hours later at Rach Kien, about a dozen miles from Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the Americans had four dead, two wounded and one missing.

The Viet Cong faded into the darkness when reinforcements came up, and their losses were not known. But their force was raked by artillery fire and gunship helicopters.

U. S. naval forces operating off the North Vietnamese coast had one of their busiest days yesterday since they started shelling coastal targets in the north on Feb. 26.

The U. S. Command said the cruiser Canberra and the destroyers Keppler and Ingersoll bombarded 17 targets some 40 miles south of the port of Vinh.

U. S. and Vietnamese military authorities reported little significant ground fighting yesterday, and bad weather limited U. S. air strikes against North Vietnam to 68 missions.

Garrison Must Tell Informant's Name

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Dist. Judge Bernard J. Bagert ruled today Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison must reveal the "confidential informant" Garrison says heard conspirators planning the assassination of President Kennedy.

Bagert ruled attorneys for Clay L. Shaw, charged with conspiracy to murder the President, were entitled to a full hearing on the evidence, including the identity of Garrison's confidential informant at yesterday's preliminary hearing.

Sun-Watching Probe Is Fired From Cape

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States orbited a many-eyed, sun-watching satellite today that may help scientists devise ways to forecast dangerous bursts of solar radiation in time to warn moon astronauts.

By gazing at the sun's rays from above the screening effects of earth's atmosphere, the Orbiting Solar Observatory (OSO) also is expected to tell man more about the sun itself and, indirectly, the universe.

Blast, Flames Level Tomales Ranch House

An explosion and fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a 100-year-old ranch home near Tomales and burned all the belongings of a newlywed couple renting the house.

The seven-room, two-story house, two miles from Tomales on the Dillon Beach Road, was believed to be one of the oldest in the county. The house was a total loss.

Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said the fire started when a butane water heater exploded at the rear of the house.

Left homeless were the John W. Azevedos, who leased the ranch after their marriage last November from Mrs. Robert Steitz of Petaluma. Their belongings, including their wedding gifts, were lost in the fire.

Mrs. Azevedo told Bloom she was alone in the house and was taking a bath when an explosion rocked the walls. Se went to the rear and found the back porch enveloped in flames.

Since there was no telephone in the house, she started for the nearest neighbor, the Lawrence Vanoni house half a mile away. She was picked up by a motorist, Mrs. David Burbank Jr., who took her to the Vanoni house and then drove into Tomales to report the fire.

Although Mrs. Burbank drove straight to the Tomales fire warden's home, Bloom said there was a 15-minute delay in reporting the fire, apparently because no one was calm enough to think of telephoning from the Vanoni house.

Four fire units, two from Tomales and two from Point Reyes Station, fought the fire, but the wooden house was a total loss. Bloom estimated loss of the house at $5,000 and loss in furniture and personal goods at $2,000.

Azevedo was at work with his father, contractor H. A. Azevedo of Petaluma, when the fire started.

FIERY CRASH KILLS MILL VALLEY PAIR

Postal Worker, Wife, Two Friends Making Camping Trip Die In Los Banos Head-On

A Mill Valley couple and two friends burned to death last night when their small foreign car collided with another auto and burst into flames five miles east of Los Banos, Merced County.

The victims were Ralph Larry Grayson, 24, his wife, Helen Frances, 23, of 50 Greenwood Way; Cheri Kolb, 19, of Vancouver, B.C., and Michael Harrison, 25, of San Francisco.

The four left Mill Valley Monday for a two-week camping trip to Yosemite Valley.

Impact of the crash ignited a butane tank in their camping equipment, burning the bodies of the victims.

Driver of the second car, Wilbert Hall, 41, of Fresno, suffered minor injuries.

California Highway Patrol officers said the Grayson car was eastbound on Highway 152 when Grayson swerved to avoid the Hall vehicle which was westbound and had crossed over the center line. The two cars hit head-on, and the Grayson vehicle burst into flames. Merced County Coroner Kenneth Riggs said the bodies of the victims were burned beyond recognition.

Grayson had worked since November as a letter carrier for Mill Valley post office. A native of Newport, Ark., he leaves no known survivors.

It was not learned immediately who survives Mrs. Grayson, who came to Mill Valley with her husband.

Miss Kolb had been visiting the Graysons in Mill Valley.

Sausalito Library Bonds Fail—56 Per Cent 'Yes'

Sausalito's $250,000 bond measure for a new waterfront library failed to gain the necessary two-thirds margin at the polls yesterday.

Unofficial returns tallied at city hall last night showed 942 yes to 747 no, a 56 per cent majority in favor of the measure.

There was a 55 per cent turnout, termed heavy by residents who recalled that there have been lighter turnouts for some municipal elections.

Mayor Mel Wax contended the favorable vote by the majority constituted a strong endorsement for a new library. "The problem still remains," he said. "We still have an iadequate library."

Councilmen agreed to ask the library board to recommend "the next step" toward financing a new library.

Wax said there had been misinformation spread about the cost and size of the library and obstruction of the waterfront.

The city proposed to construct a 10,500 square foot library on city property along the waterfront, northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

The library board will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. March

Chivalry Is Costly

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Leto, a Brooklyn television repairman, was driving through Flatbush early today when a lady in a fur coat ran out and lay down in the street.

Leto, 32, got out to help her up.

"Give me your money," she said, backing her demand with a small revolver.

The startled Leto surrendered $85, and the lady in the fur coat ran off.

Political Push

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The snowbound motorist had no political pull, but he got a big push from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Police said the governor and his bodyguard, Maj. Edward Galvin, stopped to help the motorist yesterday while trudging through the 10-inch snowfall to the Capitol.

Slayer Seeks Execution Halt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dennis Stanworth, 24, the confessed slayer of two 15-year-old Pinole girls, yesterday asked the state Supreme Court to overturn his death sentence.

Stanworth's attorney cited alleged errors in his penalty trial. He said the jury was influenced by what he called "gruesome photographs" of the victims.

He also charged that the judge failed to instruct the jury to ignore references to Stanworth's alleged prior offenses, and that the district attorney conducted himself "in a manner prejudicial to the defendant."

Stanworth interrupted his murder trial to plead guilty to the slayings of Caree Lee Collison and Susan Box last year.

Meredith To Run For Powell's Job

JAMES H. MEREDITH
Draws cool response

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro leaders in Harlem and around the country reacted coolly today to James H. Meredith's plans to run as the Republicans' choice aginst Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

They gave him little chance of winning, and some charged he was being used.

SOME FEARS

Meredith, in agreeing to oppose Powell yesterday after being recommended by Republican leaders, said he was aware that in running he might lay himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes." He said that Powell, excluded from the House last week, had lost his influence and the people deserve more than what they're getting.

Meredith's name was suggested by an unidentified Harlem Republican leader last week.

Yesterday he was recommended by members of the Republican Executive Committee from the 18th District. His nomination is expected to be made at a meeting of the rank-and-file Harlem Republican County committeemen within a week.

LITTLE COMMENT

Powell, who has won the 18th District of Harlem in 12 consecutive elections by wide margins, had little comment when he learned of the announcement.

"We'll wait and see," he said from his retreat in Bimini, the Bahamas. Powell is taking court action in efforts to regain his seat, but plans to run again should litigation fail to settle the matter by April 11.

Percy Sutton, Manhattan borough president whose home political district is in Harlem, said he would support Powell. Sutton is a Democrat like most Harlem leaders.

San Francisco Can Levy Tax On Income

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The City of San Francisco can legally levy an income tax on residents and non-residents, City Attorney Thomas M. O'Connor said yesterday.

O'Connor told that to the Board of Supervisors, despite State Constitution and revenue code sections which say California cities may not levy income taxes.

O'Connor held that San Francisco can levy the tax because it is a charter city.

Supervisors are considering two forms of income tax: A straight income tax that would apply not only to wages, but income from stock, real estate or other sources.

The second method outlined by O'Connor would be a payroll tax which would affect only those who draw payroll checks in the city.

Students Face Possible Action

STANFORD (AP)—President Wallace Sterling of Stanford University warns of possible disciplinary action against students who demonstrated against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey was heckled Feb. 20 by a crowd of some 800 anti-war demonstrators during a campus speaking engagement.

In a letter yesterday to students, faculty and staff, Sterling said:

". . . I would emphasize that public reports that no disciplinary action will be taken, in the face of adequate evidence supporting such action, are grossly mistaken . . ."

Waste Disposal Called Harmless

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Waste disposal which is properly treated—such as treated sewage—is described as harmless in a new statewide water quality control policy.

The policy, adopted yesterday after hearings in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas, states such treated disposal may be permitted into streams, for instance.

Paul Bonderson, the board's executive officer, said no major policy shift is involved. He said treated sewage has been permitted in streams, under certain conditions, since 1949.

"The whole law is based upon the premise that waste disposal is to be regulate so as to not adversely and unreasonably affect beneficial uses of the water," he said.

Hoffa's Protege Begins Chore Of Negotiating Trucking Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — National trucking negotiations for 500,000 workers resume today with imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa no longer in the driver's seat.

Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's handpicked stand-in, takes over contract talks with Trucking Employers Inc., representing the largest of the 12,000 firms involved.

Hoffa will have to learn from behind bars how his "life's dream" national contract is handled by Fitzsimmons.

Hoffa, 54, who hammered out the first national trucking agreement three years ago, went to the Federal Penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., yesterday to begin his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

Fitzsimmons, 58, who long worked in Hoffa's shadow, is largely an unknown quantity in major contract talks and will be watched closely by industry negotiators and other Teamsters leaders.

Hoffa, who opened the talks in January, generally dominated negotiations.

The union is demanding 75 cents an hour in wage hikes over three years plus numerous improved fringe benefits and working conditions worth an estimated total of 5 to 7 per cent annually. Truckers now earn $3.32 to $5 an hour in wages.

The negotiations, with a March 31 strike deadline, have sputtered along, largely because of uncertainty over Hoffa's fate and a dispute over whether there should be a master nationwide contract or a number of separate ones.

The average California farmer uses nearly seven times more electricity than the average per farm throughout the United States says the Council of California Growers.

ONE OF THESE SOUGHT—Descriptions of a mystery man who drove away from the scene of a Los Ranchitos fire last night varied, so sheriff's artist Edward Mauberret made two sketches—one matching each description. Officers want to question the man.

want to make you aware that there's a fire up the hill."

The man then jumped into a 1962 or '63 Comet or Falcon and sped off.

Sheriff's Inspector A. V. Menjou requested anyone with information about the man, whose description was sketched from two residents' accounts by sheriff's artist Edward Mauberret, to call his office.

Kevin Dearth, vice president of Northwestern Savings and Loan, said damage to the home exceeded $100,000. The dwelling had been unoccupied since early 1965, he said, when the former occupants defaulted on a mortgage.

He said the 10-year-old home had been the scene of extensive vandalism the past two years. A year a go, he said, vandals poured paint throughout the home, pulled out plumbing and broke windows, causing about $2,000 damage. Remodeling work was done recently, he said.

The contents of the home at the time of the fire consisted only of a stove, carpeting and drapes, Dearth said.

VOTE

20 at city hall, and will invite council members to attend, Mrs. Alice Scarborough, board president, reported.

"Anyone interested in making constructive suggestions is invited," Mrs. Scarborough said.

Voting by precincts was: Dabner, 125 yes, 80 no; nursery school, 230 yes, 106 no; Campbell Hall, 128 yes, 73 no; City Hall, 91 yes, 76 no; Firehouse, 135 yes, 161 no; Central School, 136 yes, 147 no; Bayside School, 74 yes, 94 no. The absentee vote was 23 yes and 10 no.

Councilmen will hold a special session next Tuesday at 8 p.m. to canvess the ballots and conduct a study session, including plans for the coming budget.

Brown Seated On Rec Board

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown was sworn in yesterday as a member of the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Commission and took the opportunity to pay Gov. Ronald Reagan a lefthanded "compliment."

Brown said Reagan would make a "strong darkhorse contender" for the Republican nominee for president next year.

Then he added:

"He comes over very strong to audiences who don't know his basic philosophies."

Post Office Hit By Glass Shower

Corte Madera Postmaster Edward J. Victor was showered with broken glass when a car rammed the front of the Post Office yesterday at 5:30 p.m., but no one was hurt in the accident, according tto Corte Madera police.

William A. Pentecost, 79, of 335 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, was driver of the car which jumped the First Street curb and hit the Post Office, loosening bricks and breaking the window.

Bus Service Improvements To Be Discussed

The tri-partite transportation committee decided today to invite Greyhound Bus Lines to a joint meeting at 10 a.m. March 29 at the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza.

The purpose will be to discuss improvements in bus service between Marin and San Francisco.

Marin County Supervisor Peter H. Behr, the temporary chairman for the committee will be succeeded by Supervisor Jack Morrison of San Francisco, who was elected unanimously, althought he was not present, at today's meeting.

Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, a Golden Gate Bridge District director, was named vice chairman.

The group decided to meet on the second Wednesday of each minth at 10 a.m. at the bridge toll plaza.

Novatan Suffers Minor Car Injuries

A Novato man suffered minor injuries when his car blew a tire and overturned on Highway 101, north of the Linden Lane undercrossing, in San Rafael, at 11:53 a.m. yesterday.

Philip Michael Passero, 20, of 770 St. Francis Avenue told the California Highway Patrol his car veered off the highway, overturned and skidded on its top, after a rear tire went flat. He refused hospitalization.

Director Resigns

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night accepted the resignation of board member James M. Kennedy, a San Rafael attorney, but took no action to fill the vacancy.

BUDGET

message to the Democratic-controlled legislature.

This is what he asks:

A $358 million income tax hike. It would hit the wealthy hardest, eliminate taxes for the lowest paid and reduce them for others in the lower brackets.

Brackets would be narrowed, the maximum rate would rise from 7 to 10 per cent and personal exemptions would be eliminated. These would be replaced by credits of $25 for individuals, $50 for married couples and $8 for each dependent.

Reagan said he wants to spend only $335 million of the proceeds declaring he'll operate the state on a cash basis instead of banking on accrual revenues counted in advance.

A 1 per cent increase in the present 4 per cent sales tax, a $375 million money maker, Reagan said he will use only $325 million.

A 3.5 cent hike in the present 3 cent cigarette tax, plus taxes on cigars and smoking tobacco. It would bring in $88 million, of which Reagan will spend only $83 million.

He also called for passage of legislation to permit counties and some cities to levy their own cigarette tax of up to 3.5 cents a pack. Some charter cities now have a cigarette tax.

An increase in the liquor excise tax to $2.25 a gallon, working out to 15 cents more a fifth. It would raise $33 million, and Reagan wants to spend $30 million of it.

A boost in the franchise tax on general corporations from 5.5 per cent to 6.5 per cent and a 1 per cent hike in the present 9.5 per cent bank tax. It would raise $92 million and Reagan proposes to spend it all.

The governor proposed a unique property tax relief plan.

Local tax collectors would give taxpayers a $120 million reduction that would be shown on the face of the tax bill. The state would reimburse the local agencies. It means an average school tax reduction of 6.5 per cent.

Two Foundation Members Resign

Two members of the College of Marin Foundation Board resigned last night.

Elizabeth M. Deedy resigned because she felt only one Marin Junior College District trustee should be on the foundation board, and trustee Theodore C. Wellman is board president.

Roland E. Fenz resigned saying he believes board members should live and work in Marin, and he works in San Francisco.

Byron W. Leydecker of San Rafael and Jack Younger of Mill Valley will replace Mrs. Deedy and Fenz on the board.

The foundation has received $13,750 of its $17,000 fund drive goal, reported Kent O. Seymour, chairman of the special gifts committee.

Brass At MGM Wins Control

NEW YORK (AP)—Management retained control of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., today, but a director who initiated a bitter proxy battle immediately filed a court challenge of the results.

Results of the Feb. 23 proxy vote by shareholders of the motion picture firm, announced this morning, showed the management slate of directors, headed by MGM President Robert H. O'Brien winning by a margin of about 700,000 votes out of the 4,485,400 shares represented.

OBITUARIES

Alf. H. Haraldsen Dies At 66

Alf H. Haraldsen Sr., a resident of Bolinas for 43 years and retired chief rigger there for Radio Corp. of America, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness. He was 66.

A native of Olso, Norway, Haraldsen went to sea when he was 14 years old and served on sailing ships, including the Star of Alaska — now the Balclutha in San Francisco's maritime museum.

His sea-going career included fishing off Alaska and service on San Francisc Bay tug boats until he settled in Bolinas in 1924 as assistant rigger at the RCA transmitter.

Haraldsen was a member of Vitruvius Lodge 145, Free and Accepted Masons, of Bloomfield, Sonoma County.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred E. Haraldsen; two sons, Erling W. of Bolinas and Alf H. Haraldsen Jr. of Redwood City; a brother and two sisters in Oslo, Reider Haraldsen, Hjerta Hjertum and Inga Andersen, and three grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private. The family would prefer memorial contributions to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, or the Masonic Home, San Francisco.

KENNETH HARLAN

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Masonic graveside services will be held tomorrow in Hollywood for Kenneth Harlan, who worked alongside Lon Chaney and Mary Pickford in the silent film days.

Harlan died Monday night at Sutter Memorial Hospital after rupture of an aneurysm, a ballooning blood vessel, the family said.

He was 71.

MRS. TOSHIKO LYMBURNER

Toshiko Lymburner, former Novato resident, died today at a local hospital after a brief illness.

She was the wife of Joseph L. Lymburner, whom she met and married in Japan four years ago while he was serving with the Navy.

Mrs. Lymburner was born in Kagoshima, where she grew up and attended school. She came to this country with her husband in 1965, setttling in Novato, where they lived until moving last year to Petaluma.

Mrs. Lymburner is survived by her husband; two daughters, Sandra and Jacqueline Lymburner; her mother, Mrs. Kiku Deguchi of San Diego; two sisters in the United States, Michiko Deguchi of New Jersey and Ayako Peake of San Diego, and two sisters and a brother in Japan.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Friday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church, Larkspur. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

JAMES D. NICE

Funeral for James D. Nice of Fairfax, killed Monday night in a motorcycle accident, will be at 10:15 a.m. Friday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, San Rafael. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno, directed by Keaton's Mortuary of San Rafael.

Nice, 29, of 57 Wood Lane, a bus driver for the San Francisco Municipal Railway, died yesterday of injuries suffered when his motorcycle rammed a utility pole on San Anselmo's Miracle Mile Monday night.

WILLIE SMITH

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Last rites are planned Saturday for jazz saxophonist Willie Smith, who played with the bands of Jimmie Lunceford, Charley Spivak, Harry James, Duke Ellington and Billy May.

Smith, whose full name was William McLeish Smith, deid Tuesday at the age of 58.

Dirksen In Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is at Walter Reed Army Hospital suffering from fatigue, his office said today.

NEW ENGLAND WINTER DIES HARD

The calendar says Spring is but two weeks away—and in New England, folks today are digging out from one of the worst snowstorms of the year. Blizzards struck as far south as Kentucky, and flooding continued in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky. These fishing boats are anchored in the windswept waters of Beale Island, Maine; the ice-covered object in the foreground is a lobster car, used to store the fishermen's catch. (AP Wirephoto)

GOP Senator Opposes LBJ Home Films

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt said today the home-front release of U.S. Information Agency documentary films on President Johnson would be political propaganda.

Other senators from both parties joined him in opposing domestic distribution of USIA materials. But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he doesn't believe their release would propagandize Americans so long as the agency carried out its proper objective: "To convey the unvarnished truth."

Mundt, of South Dakota, said the party in control of the White House would use the material for its own political advantage.

He said two motion pictures prepared for overseas distribution "tend to glorify" President Johnson — and properly so.

"He's our man," Mundt said. "But I don't think that should be used as a prelude for a re-election campaign in the United States."

USIA films depict Johnson against a Texas backdrop and on his Pacific-Asian tour late last year.

Mansfield and Mundt discussed in interviews a proposal of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Information suggesting that USIA make available to interested Americans — on request — the material it distributes overseas.

Teacher Expects Home Picketed

Echoes of the picketing and partial strike at John Muir School in San Francisco reached Corte Madera yesterday.

Marie Gehlen of 13 Buccaneer Court, Corte Madera, a fifth grade teacher at the school called Corte Madera police at 10:30 p.m. to report that she feared the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People might picket her home.

Some parents and pupils at the school had accused Mrs. Gehlen of making derogatory remarks to her Negro students.

No pickets had appeared in Corte Madera this morning.

Gazebo Flower Stand Plan Draws No Vote

Sausalito City Council last night reaffirmed its stand that the city's gazebo near the Bank of America building on Bridgeway should not be used for commercial purposes, "no matter how well meant or how nice."

The stand came as the council rejected a bid by Franklin L Anderson of Garden Service and Supply of Sausalito for use of the gazebo as a flower stand.

"There is a present drabness to the downtown Bridgeway that can be relieved by the magic of strong natural colors, such as flowers will effect, and as evidence of this, it is only needed to cite the success of San Francisco's sidewalk stands," Anderson said.

The gazebo is now used by the Marin Visitor's Bureau as an information booth, and by residents as a bus depot.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

DREDGING—Granted Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co., 1702 Bridgeway, a dredging permit to maintain the channel — a move necessary for the firm to stay in business — that needs approval of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

TRIDENT PROPOSAL — Referred to the planning commission a proposal by Trident Productions to exchange a portion of former Purity Store property at Bridgeway and Princess Street for city property, which would make more land available for a city park at the site.

PEOPLE TO PEOPLE— Approved an additional $75 allotment to the People to People program to carry it through the fiscal year.

SLIDE EXPENSE — Postponed decision on contributing any further funds for work in the slide area at the rear of shops along Bridgeway until a cost breakdown is received. The city previously agreed to pay $500 toward emergency work, but has since received a request for an additional $1,400.

YACHT CLUB—Set for April 4 public hearing on a request by Sausalito Yacht Club for a zoning amendment to permit yacht clubs in an open area district.

GLAD HAND — Granted the Glad Hand Restaurant an encroachment permit to relocate outboard of its present location, to permit widening of Bridgeway.

SENIOR RECREATION — Agreed to consider matching county funds for a recreation program for senior citizens, up to $2,000, pending study by the recreation commission and budget review.

TREES — Approved a revised tree planting plan for Vina del Mar subdivision at the end of George Lane, to cover hillside cuts.

PERMITS — Granted Ethel Mitchell a permit for a planned united development at 26 Alexander Avenue to consist of three single-family lots and an existing triplex.

ULTIMATE BOUNDARY — Referred to the planning commission a request from Marin County to designate possible future city boundaries, with comment that extending of the boundary to meet Belvedere's in mid-Richardson Bay should be included and Fort Baker property considered.

UNDERGROUNDING — Agreed that a five-member committee including a planning commissioner, councilman and member of the Citizen's Architectural Advisory Board study undergrounding of utilities including which areas of the city should be considered first.

VOTE CANVASS — Adjourned until a special session at 8 p.m. next Tuesday to canvass the library bond election vote and have a study session, and set the next regular meeting at 8 p.m. March 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Farming Wages Upset Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz' raising of minimum wages for California foreign farm workers was "unilateral and unwarranted," Gov. Ronald Reagan and Lt. Gov. Hobert Finch asserted.

The Republicans, in a statement yesterday, said that Democrat Wirtz and others in Washington D. C. were causing "needless and undue hardship on the consumers of food produced in California."

The increase — from $1.40 to $1.60 hourly—was described by Reagan and Finch as "an unrealistic minimum wage for foreign supplemental labor (which) will cause food prices to soar even higher."

Oakland Woman To Be Speaker

Mrs. Patricia Atthowe of Oakland, who has investigated various community organizations with emphasis on student groups at University of California, will speak at a meeting of the Marin Coordinating Assembly, California Republican Assembly, at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the planning commission chamber at the Civic Center.

New officers of the assembly will be installed. They are Robert J. Guthrie of Terra Linda, chairman; William Henderscheid of Mill Valley, vice chairman, and Helene Brown of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer.

Film Companies Face Possible Sausalito Fee

Sausalito, an attractive setting for films, is considering requiring motion picture companies to pay a business license fee to shoot scenes in the city.

Mayor Mel Wax, who writes for the San Francisco Chronicle and has a program on television station KQED, said at last night's council meeting:

"I hope we distinguish between commercial films and people taking home movies and television coverage of news events. There's also a fine line when it comes to TV documentaries."

City Mgr. George M. Pattersan said that since filming motion pictures is a business operation," it would seem perfectly proper to require payment of a business license fee."

Councilmen agreed that Patterson should further study charges and report back to the council.

Plea Scheduled In Lodging Case

Ronald B. Goodrich, 18, and Ricky Bee Deem, 19, were to plead this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court to a joint charge of lodging in a Santa Venetia house without permission of the owner. They were arraigned yesterday before Judge Hadden W. Roth.

Goodrich, of 429 Elm Avenue, Larkspur, and Deem, of 814 Hacienda Way, San Rafael, were arrested Monday night by sheriff's officers for investigation of burglary of the house at 618 Vendola Drive, owned by Roy D. Dotto Jr. of 867 Patricia Way, San Rafael.

Compromise Set In Funds Battle

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Averting possible partisan battle on the Assembly floor, an agreement on crippled children's emergency funds has been reached by Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Democratic chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Reagan and Chairman Robert W. Crown, D - Alameda, announced yesterday they had agreed to an emergency allocation of $574,000 to finance the crippled children's service program for the rest of the fiscal year.

Both Reagan and Crown denied that the agreement was a compromise and regreted "misunderstandings" on the matter.

Attorney Attacks Proposed Business License Revision

By FRANK FARRARA

Sausalito City Council's meeting came to a rousing close last night with a vigorous attack against a proposed ordinance amendment that would give the city power to revoke a firm's business license.

Attorney Richard Gladstein of San Rafael, representing the Sandalmaker, 635 Bridgeway, challenged the law and asked councilmen, "Do you want to play God?"

At one point during Gladstein's protest, Councilman Jan Paul Dyk asked: "Do we have to listen to this shouting? We don't shout here."

Mayor Mel Wax advised Gladstein: "This isn't a criminal case. Don't get excited."

"I've never been less excited," replied Gladstein.

"Then I'd hate to see you when you are excited," quipped Wax.

Gladstein attacked a provision that would give the council the right to revoke any license for "failure to deliver goods, wares, merchandise or services within a reasonable time after receiving payment there for."

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan noted that there would be a public hearing before any license would be revoked, and the license holder would have an opportunity to state his case.

"Do you want to become a new court?" Gladstein asked the council.

Wax assured Gladstein that the proposed regulations are not aimed at any particular business and all firms "will be treated equally."

Police Chief Edward S. Kreins last month suggested regulations "that would enable the city to stop a business from operating which had been deemed detrimental to the good name of the city." Councilmen then asked Jordan to draft an amendment containing the proposed regulations. That draft came before the council as the closing item on the agenda last night.

Councilmen agreed to postpone discussion on the proposed regulations until March 21.

The proposed amendment would enable the city to revoke a license for conduct of business or occupation in an unlawful manner, or a manner dangerous to persons or property or to the public peace, health and safety, or for making any false, fraudulent or misleading representation (including advertising of any kind) relating to the goods, wares, merchandise or services offered.

Burglary Counts Killed By Judge

Three counts of burglary against Freddie Louis Hunter, 20, were dismissed by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court after a preliminary hearing yesterday.

The judge found insufficient evidence to hold Hunter for trial.

Hunter, a transient already on three years probation for auto theft, was arrested by Sausalito police and sheriff's officers Feb. 23. They charged he attempted to break into Eden Roc Apartments at Waldo Point, and broke into a car owned by Isobel Swinden of the apartments.

WRECKAGE RECOVERED — Wreckage of small plane that crashed in San Francisco Bay, killing Marshall G. Richardson of Novato and Paul Bundesen of Petaluma, was brought ashore at Coyote Point in San Mateo County late yesterday. The bodies were pinned in by the engine of the craft. (AP Wirephoto)

Novatan At Controls Of Wrecked Aircraft

Wreckage of a single-engine plane bearing the body of Marshall G. Richardson of Novato and Paul Bundesen of Petaluma was recovered yesterday from the bay near San Francisco International Airport.

The two were killed Monday when the light plane crashed into shallow water and mud about 150 yards from the end of the airport's runway.

Richardson, 59, is Northern California manager for H and N Hatcheries in Petaluma. His home is 155 San Felipe Way, Novato. He initially was identified as from Petaluma because of his business address.

Piloting his own single-engine Navion plane, Richardson left Justman's Sky Ranch in Petaluma Monday, accompanied by Bundesen, 40, a Petaluma real estate broker. The men were en route to inspect chicken ranch properties.

An experienced pilot, Richardson had flown for 20 years and friends reported his plane in immaculate condition.

Reason for the crash was still under investigation by the San Mateo County coroner's office; however, yesterday an airport official said the pilot "apparently misjudged his altitude and was caught in a downdraft."

The plane crashed with such force that the bodies were wedged in under the engine, and skin-divers from the San Mateo County Sheriff's office worked 12 hours yesterday to take the wreckage ashore to Coyote Point. A barge and crane were used to pull wreckage ashore, where the bodies were freed from the twisted metal.

Richardson, who assumed managership of H & N Hatchery operations in Petaluma in 1964, was born and reared in Southern California. He and his father formerly were poultry breeders at Redlands in San Bernardino County.

He was a member of the California Poultry Commission, and had been a member of the original committee which created the California Egg Promotion Board, and served several terms as director of the California Poultry and Hatchery Federation.

He is survived by his wife, Lorna, at the family home in Novato; a son, Edward G. Richardson, a pilot for Western Air Lines in Palos Verde Estates, Los Angeles County; a daughter, Georgina Ruff of Japan, and five grandchildren.

Pfeiffer Seeks Education Seat

Management consultant John C. Pfeiffer, seeking public office for the first time, yesterday filed completed petitions for election to the San Rafael Board of Education.

Pfeiffer, 41, of 27 Arcangel Way, is vying against three board members seeking to return to their seats in the April 10 election. They are Carl J. Brown, current board president; Mrs. Anita C. Strom ,who took out candidacy papers Monday, and Herman L. Childress.

Deadline for filing candidacy papers for school board and city offices is 5 p.m. Friday.

Medic Claims Drugs Not Miracle Workers

By CAROL MARSH

"Drugs don't perform miracles, they make living material do more or less of what the material is designed to do," Dr. Chauncy D. Leake of the University of California medical school told College of Marin students yesterday.

Dr. Leake, speaking on the Associated Students "Controversy '67" series, discussed drugs in three classes: depressant drugs, including alcohol, morphine and morphine derivatives such as heroin, aspirin and barbitals; stimulants, including cocaine, caffeine and amphetamines and hallucinogens including marijuana, some mushrooms and LSD.

Depressants slow mental activity; and stimulants increase awareness, sensitivity, and tension, and hallucinogens cause distortion of brain activity, he said.

Leake said alcohol is probably the oldest known drug, and noted that social controls on its use have existed since antiquity. However alcoholism as a disease was not recognized until the late 19th century, he commented.

He noted that alcohol reduces the unpleasantness of an unpleasant environment, and when a person uses alcohol for this effect too consistently, he may become an alcoholic.

He said morphine drugs were developed for their pain-relieving effects, and he believes the pain-relieving effect is related to the drugs' addictive effects.

A person addicted to a morphine drug "will do anything, even commit murder," to get the drug, said Leake.

The doctor said he believes cocaine is the most socially dangerous drug because a person under the influence of cocaine feels a strong need to use his muscles, to act—and "will usually act against someone else."

Caffeine as a very mild stimulant is not harmful, but stronger stimulants, like amphetamines, are dangerous because a person who is "too excited" may develop psychosis, he said.

He said hallucinogens have been used all over the world since ancient times. Marijuana comes from cannibis plants, he said, and the resin from the plants can cause very strong hallucinations, but since very little of the drug is in the dried leaves, "smoking marijuana is no more serious a matter than drinking alcoholic beverages."

LSD, a much stronger hallucinogen, can produce psychotic effects, he warned.

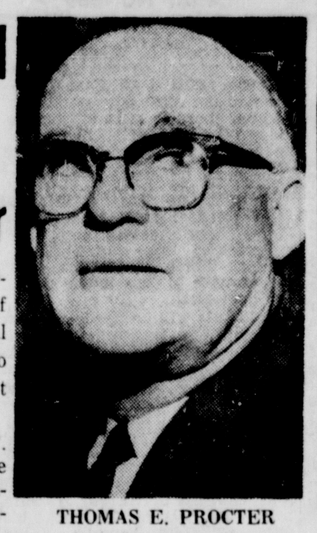
Procter Named As Hospital Board Director



THOMAS E. PROCTER
Joins hospital board

Thomas E. Procter of Belvedere, senior vice president of Coldwell Banker and Co., real estate firm, was appointed to the Marin Hospital District Board last night.

Procter replaces Herbert F. Brandt, who resigned because he was transferred from the Emporium at Northgate to be manager of the Emporium in Stonestown. Procter's term will expire in December, 1970.

Procter, 61, lives at 10 Crest Road, Belvedere. He and his two daughters, Mrs. Howard Bottini of Novato and Dr. Jean Procter of University of California Medical School.

He just completed a three-year term as a director of the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and has been a director of the San Francisco Family and Children's Agency and the San Francisco Real Estate Board.

A native of San Francisco, he has lived in Marin since 1951. He is a graduate of University of California at Berkeley and earned a master's degree at the Harvard School of Business Administration.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ENGAGE IN THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

To Whom It May Concern:

Subject to issuance of the license applied for, notice is hereby given that the undersigned proposes to sell alcoholic beverages at the premises, described as follows: 81-83-85 Red Hill Ave., San Anselmo.

Pursuant to such intention, the undersigned is applying to the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control for issuance by transfer of an alcoholic beverage license (or licenses) for these premises as follows: ON SALE BEER AND WINE EATING PLACE.

Anyone desiring to protest the issuance of such license(s) may file a verified protest with any office of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, within 30 days of the posting of this notice, stating grounds of denial as provided by law. The premises are now licensed for the sale of alcoholic beverages. The form of verification may be obtained from any office of the Department.

School-Community Seminar Set At Tam

A school-community assembly on educational issues will be held Friday and Saturday at Tamalpais High School.

Aim of the assembly is to explore beyond "what is" to "what if . . . ?" according to Mrs. Martin Collor and Mrs. Bil Garoutte, co-chairmen of the committee. Sponsors include Mill Valley, Sausalito and Tamalpais High School districts, the county schools office, and teacher and community groups.

FIRST EVENING

Friday's session will be from 7 to 10 p.m. Speakers will discuss education and its relation to individuals and the community. Director of the assembly is Dr. Marie Fielder, human relations consultant to Mill Valley School District.

"What If I Were Black?" will be discussed by Stuart Loomis, director of the Northern California Human Relations Workshop and associate professor of counseling and education at San Francisco State College. "What If I Were White?" will be presented by Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley, member of the State Board of Education.

ARTIST'S VIEW

"What If We Valued Individuality?" will be looked into by Penrod Moss, director of the North Bay Project to Advance Creativity in Education. Ann O'Hanlon, Mill Valley artist and teacher, will discuss "What If We Saw Things Differently?"

Also on the program Friday will be a "happening" entitled "What If We Paid Attention?" to be performed by drama students of George Muldoon at Edna Maguire School.

On Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., speakers will include Dr. Gertrude Noar of Berkeley, former national education director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; Rev. Muriel James, dean of the Laymen's School of Religion in Berkeley, and Dr. Joseph L. White, member of the psychology faculty at Long Beach State College.

PUPIL DRAMA

Richardson Bay students, led by drama teacher William Hughes, will present "What If We Sewed the Patches Together?" Small group discussions will follow.

The community assembly committee's office is at 600 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Novato Hi-Jinks Lead To Hearing

Repercussions from the hot, dusty Saturday in June last year when Novato celebrated Western Weekend were heard yesterday at the Marin Civic Center.

William J. Bertch and J. Fred Gordon, owners of the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue, Novato, appeared before an Alcoholic Beverage Control Department hearing, charged with allowing alcoholic beverages to be taken off their licensed premises for consumption during Western Weekend.

Alleged violations included letting customers take beer and highballs in paper cups outside the premises, and opening cans of beer inside the club for consumption outside.

Hearing officer was Paul Winton, and results of the hearing will be announced later.

Ship Savannah Just Too Costly

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Carl C. Davis, general counsel of the Federal Maritime Administration, told a House subcommittee yesterday that the 21,000-ton U.S. Savannah had cost the government more than $100 million since 1958. Even if used at 100 per cent of capacity it could not turn a profit, he said.

Savannah, which is to be laid up Aug. 20, cost $3.3 million to operate during fiscal 1967. By comparison, a similar size conventional cargo ship would cost the government only $600,000 in subsidies, he said.

Georgia House Deals A Blow

ATLANTA (UPI) —The Georgia House dealt Gov. Lester Maddox a smashing political defeat yesterday by overwhelmingly passing a local option sales tax bill.

The measure appeared certain of passage in the Senate, but Maddox still may veto it.

The Republican-sponsored bill became the object of a floor power struggle between House Speaker George L. Smith and made strong statements against the bill.

Coed's Coat Stolen

A dark blue peacoat valued at $30 was taken from her locker at Hill Junior High School between Feb. 24 and 27, Sara G. Sweetser of 75 San Carlos Way, Novato, reported yesterday to Novato police.

Supervisors Keep Sharp Eye On Telephone Rate Hikes

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed to ask the California Public Utilities Commission to watch carefully the application by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for substantial rate increases — although members were not sure some increase was not necessary.

They were told by Randall Shores, administrative analyst, that the phone bill at county offices would be bumped up from $169,000 this fiscal year to about $194,780 or an increase of $25,400.

John D. La Noue, San Rafael district manager for PT&T, said Marin County rates were below many other areas of California. Although costs have been higher over a period of time, he said, PT&T has maintained the rates at a reasonable level.

The board agreed that rather than oppose the increase out of hand at forthcoming hearings, the county would ask County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to attend with Mansfield Lewis, director of communications, and keep the board informed on the trend of the application.

Navy Trains 14 Recruits From Marin

Fourteen Marin County youths, including four each from San Rafael and San Anselmo, are undergoing Navy basic training in San Diego after recently enlisting at the San Rafael recruiting office.

Those from San Rafael are: James B. Gurney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Gurney of 307 Vendola Drive; Robert C. Jones, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber F. Jones of 211 Canal Street; John Duane McMaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. McMaster of 100 Bayo Vista Way, and Stephen C. Petersen, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Petersen of 258 Alpine Street.

From San Anselmo, the recruits are: Joseph A. Cherry, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Cherry of 296 Butterfield Road; William B. Doucet, 19, son of Mrs. Evelyn B. Doucet of 1 Southview Avenue; Bradley G. Kritsky, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Kritsky of 45 Berkeley Avenue, and Donald A. Loew, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Loew of 11 Vine Avenue.

Others enlisting were: Bruce C. Clarke, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Clarke of 48 Lagoon Road, Belvedere; Kent E. Lafferty, 19, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Maurice E. Lafferty of 127 East Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base; John B. Runnels Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Runnels Sr. of 161 Stewart Drive, Tiburon; Anthony J. Sollecito, 20, son of Mrs. Rose S. Sollecito of 64 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae; Michael E. Walter of 1065 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, and Stephen A. Zeiss, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen O. Zeiss of 22 Walnut Avenue, Ross.

Marin City Builder Asks Road Connection

California Development Co., builder of new housing in Marin City, last night proposed to the county redevelopment agency that a road connection be built between its Ridgeland property and Rodeo Avenue in Sausalito.

The road would provide more direct access to Highway 101, make the Ridgeland development easier to market, and improve access for fire protection, said Richard M. Adams, attorney for the company. No date for construction has been set for the 220 single-family and 60 townhouse units planned for the Ridgeland.

Commissioners took no action on the proposal, reported Donald O. Stutsman, agency director, but "the general feeling was that the company's position was sound."

In a discussion of Sausalito School District's plan for a new school for all pupils in the district at the Bayside School site, Adams said his company did not object but felt selection of the Manzanita site would contribute more to redevelopment of Marin City.

School District and Housing Authority representatives will meet at 6 p.m. tomorrow in Cherish Inn, Strawberry, to discuss whether the $173,000 the authority pledged for a neighborhood school in Marin City can be used at Bayside, Stutsman said.

Redevelopment agency commissioners agreed that if Tamalpais High School District decides to dispose of its 32-acre site in Marin City, about one-third of the parcel should be dedicated as a park.

Commissioners re-elected George C. Goheen chairman for 1967, and elected James O. Quett as vice chairman.

Guilty Plea On Armed Robbery

A two-time prison loser, confronted with the possibility of being sentenced as an habitual criminal, today pleaded guilty to armed robbery during the second day of his Marin Superior Court jury trial.

Sentencing of Paul E. Bradley, 34, was scheduled by Judge Peter Allen Smith for 9:30 a.m. March 29.

Bradley, of 103 Redwood Road, Fairfax, was accused of robbing Harold E. Pennington at the Standard Service Station, 7417 Redwood Highway, Novato, at knifepoint of about $75 on Jan. 8, 1966.

The first written record of an earthquake in California was made by Gaspar de Portola in 1769 while camped about 30 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Blithedale Project Bids Announced

E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera was lowest of seven bidders yesterday on widening of East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley, reported City Engineer Stanley M. Bala.

The company bid $262,295, or 5.6 per cent below Bala's estimate of $277,965. The bids will be reported to the city council March 20, Bala said.

Other bids were: Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael, $275,082; Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc., Corte Madera, $281,689; McGuire and Hester, Oakland, $293,013; Pacific Western, Suisun City, $294,084; Ghilotti Brothers Inc., San Rafael, $298,816, and O. C. Jones, Berkeley, $327,212.

Work on the seven-month project between Camino Alto and the Alto Wye is to begin next month. Traffic will be re-routed over Ashford Avenue and Lomita Drive during construction.

The avenue will be widened to four lanes, except for the curve around Enchanted Knools, which will be regraded and resurfaced.

Transit Board Shies From New Study Costs

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, sitting as Marin Transit District directors, shied away yesterday from an allocation of $5,000 for another transit study.

And Supervisor John F. McInnis said flatly that he will not vote for putting the county in the bus business—which two studies have recommended as a possibility.

"I think the people are getting a little tired of studies," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

As board of supervisors, the same personnel last week decided that $5,000 recommended by County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and Planning Director Paul C. Zucker for the latest study should be a transit district expense. Yesterday, they had second thoughts about that.

Two city representatives, Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera and City Councilman William Jack Adams, are on the transit board in addition to supervisors, but only Colthurst was present yesterday. He said he thought $5,000 to study "balanced transportation" in connection with the $60,000 Coverdale and Colpitts report which recommended buses was not a proper county expense.

Upshot was no appropriation by the transit district, and decision to act on the request as board of supervisors next Tuesday.

McInnis said he had been told by Greyhound Lines itself that it carries only about 4,000 commuters per day on its buses between Marin and San Francisco. He said he could not see exposing taxpayers to a loss that might go as high as $1.5 million a year by taking over the buses.

"It seems to me," McInnis said, "that the are tippy-toeing toward district acquisition of a bus system." He said he could find no justification for such a move. Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer at one point said he wished that board had been as cautious in appropriating $60,000 for a bus study by New York Consultants Coverdale and Colpitts. McInnis agreed.

Marin County Transit District Board Also:

STUDY OF STUDY—Accepted the report of Arthur C. Jenkins, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District engineer, on the Coverdale and Colpitts report. Jenkins recommended that the district hire a staff to do further study and negotiate with Greyhound Lines to see what kind of deal the county could make on purchase or contract. The board did not discuss the recommendations.

REFERRALS — Relayed several suggestions from Storer, including a commuter survey to see how many now riding cars would ride buses, to the tripartite committee on transportation, meeting today. The committee consists of two Marin and two San Francisco supervisors and two members of the bridge board.

EXPRESS LANES — Took no action on Supervisor Behr's proposal for exclusive, reversible bus routes on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way. Colthurst said Corte Madera would probably oppose the idea. Mill Valley officials have also been unenthusiastic. Behr said he has made further cost and title studies.

Virginian Granted Probation On Checks

Malcolm Trenton Runyon, Jr., 41, of Richmond, Va., was fined $110 and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on his guilty plea to passing a worthless $95 check March 5 to defraud Marion Lubstein in Sausalito.

A second count of passing a worthless check for $441.32 to defraud Sausalito Travel Service on March 11 was dismissed following his other plea.

Teachers Ask 5 Pct. Hike At Lagunitas

Lagunitas School teachers asked for a minimum 5 per cent raise next year in a preliminary salary proposal presented last night to the Lagunitas School District Board.

The proposal would add $8,000 to $9,000 to the salary budget of approximately $175,999, said Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board set a special meeting for 8 p.m. next Tuesday to discuss the salary schedule and merit pay.

A meeting with parents at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday in the school multi-purpose room to discuss a family life education class for sixth through eight grade students for the rest of the year was announced by McCunniff.

The board approved spending up to $1,900 for photomapping survey of land for a new building to house ungraded kindergarten through sixth grade students, and approved specifications presented by surveyor Robert Parlette of Richmond. Neil Brodsgar and Esward P. Morphy were hired to make appraisals of the land. The building program will be financed by a $250,000 bond issue approved last month and a $290,000 state loan.

Hands Of Pianist Reported Broken

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Guards have broken the hands of Liu Shih-kun, the Chinese pianist who placed second to Van Cliburn in the 1958 Tchaikovsky competition, the newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture) reported today.

The report gave no details. It appeared in an article on the fate of the arts in China under Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution purge.

Morals Case Sent To Juvenile Court

Case of Stephen Miller of 32 Edison Avenue, Larkspur, charged with statutory rape, was certified to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court.

Miller's case was the last of eight defendants to be certified. The eight allegedly were intimate with a runaway 15-year-old San Anselmo girl during December.

MRS. JASON WIDMER displays two halves of the Easter Egg. The edible eggs will be offered for sale following the luncheon and show. Bunnies and flowers are used to decorate the hollow eggs.

Fantasy Sugar Easter Eggs Will Delight The Children

Colorful Fantasy Sugar Easter Eggs will be an added attraction on March 14 when the Fairhills Guild of the Louise Boyd Science Museum presents its "Spring Into Spring" fashion show and luncheon at the Meadow Club.

Decorative wild flowers and the Fantasy Easter Eggs have been created by guild members and will be sold following the show.

Members of the Mannequin League of Marin will model fashions at the noon event.

Mrs. Edward Zitek is chairman for the day assisted by Mesdames Albert Bianchi, reservations, Elsa Kaye, awards and Charles Condrotti and Edwin Thomas, decorations.

The recipe for the eggs follows:

SUGAR EGGS

3 cups sugar
3 tsp. water
1 drop food coloring

Mix thoroughly, so all sugar is dampened. Pack solidly in mold, and carve to shape desired inside. Spoon out a large opening. Leave at room temperature, (generally an hour) and unmold when hard. Unmold by turning upside down.

ROYAL ICING

1 lb. confectioners sugar
½ tsp. cream of tartar
Whites of 2 eggs
1 drop of water

Mix with spoon, until firm to prevent hardening. Cover with moist cloth. Will keep for 3 hours.

Molds may be purchased from bakery supply houses.

Cheese Sauce Adds Flavor

1 bunch (about 1½ pounds) broccoli
1 cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons each butter or margarine and flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup (¼ pound) coarsely grated cheddar cheese

With swivel-blade vegetable peeler, pare outer covering from broccoli stalks; divide stalks evenly, cutting if necessary. Wash and drain. Boil broccoli with the boiling water and salt in a covered 10-inch skillet just until tender — 8 to 10 minutes. Drain and keep warm. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk; add cheese and stir over very low heat to melt. (Taste sauce and add salt if necessary.) Pour sauce over broccoli. Makes 6 servings.

DIETERS BEWARE

Girl Scout Cookies Can Be Used For Company Desserts

If you are a clever homemaker and can manage to hide a few boxes of Girl Scout Cookies now on sale in Marin, and not nibble as you cook, there are some delightful family and company desserts that can be created from the five varieties.

Mrs. Vincent Welsh, the grandmother of Margo La Velle, a Junior Girl Scout of Troop 1988 in Fairfax, sent the troop some recipes using the Scout cookies which she found in an Iowa newspaper, with the recommendation that dieters "beware" and that the girls might use the recipes in earning their cooks badge. Mrs. Constance Connelly, leader of the troop and her assistants, Mrs. Jack LaVelle, and Mrs. Ray Stiller agree you must keep the cookies hidden until the recipe calls for them. . . . . they seem to require twice as many as called for when the girls "taste test" as they "cook."

FROSTY FROZEN DELIGHT

12 crushed Pixie cookies
2 cups whipping cream
1 pint each lime, lemon, raspberry sherbet.

Whip cream, add Pixie crumbs and mix gently. Spread half of mixture in 9x13 pan. Add scoops of sherbet in alternating colors of one layer. Spread remainder of mixture on top. Freeze.

PIXIE RAINBOW RIPPLE

18 Pixie cookies
1 pint whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 pint each lime, lemon and raspberry sherbet

Toast Pixies in 300 degree oven for 10 minutes. Crush into medium fine crumbs. Whip cream until it mounds slightly. Fold in crumbs, vanilla, sugar and nuts. Spread one third of whipped cream mixture over bottom of 9½x5x3 inch loaf pan. Using half of each sherbet, quickly spoon sherbet in layers on top. Cover with another third of cream mixture, repeat layer of sherbet, top with final third of cream mixture. Freeze.

MINTED BROWNIE PIE

14 Thin Mint Cookies
3 egg whites
dash of salt
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Sweetened whipped cream ½ to 1 cup heavy cream.
dash of salt

Chill cookies. Break, cut or roll between folds of waxed paper to even crumbs. Beat egg whites and salt together until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold in cookie crumbs, nut meats and vanilla; spread in buttered 9 inch pie plate. Bake in 325 degree oven for 35 minutes. Cool thoroughly. Serve with sweetened whipped cream on each wedge. Or spread sweetened whipped cream over top, chill 3 to 5 hours and garnish with curls of shaved unsweetened chocolate.

GREEN ANGEL DELIGHT

1 can (14½ oz.) evaporated milk (1⅔ cups) chilled
1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime gelatin
1¾ cups hot water
1 cup sugar
¼ cup lime juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups crushed Sandwich Creme cookie crumbs
½ cup melted butter
½ cup melted chocolate bits

Mix butter with choclate crumbs, line shallow dish with mixture. Whip chilled milk. Dissolve gelatin in hot water, after partially set, whip until fluffy. Add juice and sugar to gelatin. Fold in whipped milk and chocolate bits. Pour over cookie crumbs. Refrigerate until served.

BROWNIE BERKSHIRE PUDDING

Mix 1 cup sugar and ¾ cup butter until creamy. Melt 3 squares of chocolate and cool, then add 4 whole eggs one at a time, beating 3-5 minutes after each addition. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ cup broken pecans. Pour into buttered pan with ½ cup crushed Scot Teas lining bottom. Cover top of pudding with additional crumbs. Let set 12 hours in refrigerator before serving. Banana pudding can be made using Scot Teas in place of vanilla wafers, or any recipe which calls for vanilla wafers or graham crackers for a new taste to old favorites.

SAVANNAH TOFFEE TORTE

1 box Savannah cookies, rolled
½ cup chopped nut meats
¼ pound butter or margarine
1 cup powdered sugar
1½ squares baking chocolate
3 eggs (separated)
Pinch of salt

Cream butter and sugar. Add beaten egg yolks. Melt chocolate and add to above, with salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Grease 8 x 8 x 1 inch pan. Sprinkle half of cookie crumbs and nuts on bottom. Pour mixture on top of crumbs, finishing the top with the remaining crumbs. Refrigerate for 12 hours before serving.

Ginger Apples Are A Tasty Compliment

An extra interesting tidbit to add to the help-yourself table.

GINGER APPLES

6 large yellow Delicious apples, baked (use ⅓ to ½ cup sugar to fill core cavities)
Juice of ½ lemon
¼ cup (or more) slivered syrup-preserved ginger root

Remove any skin from baked apples, scooping pulp from skin with a teaspoon. Discard skin. Slice apples (adding scooped-out pulp) and mix with lemon juice; turn into serving dish and sprinkle with ginger slivers. Chill. Makes 12 servings when served as accompaniment to turkey.

Computer Confusion Grips School At Semester Change

By ALAN D. JONES

Everyone knows computers are more efficient than people because—well, progress is progress, and computers are newer than people.

But anyone walking around Redwood High School this spring would do well not to talk about computers much. Not after the wild results of the school's first attempts to use them for second semester class scheduling.

Computers aren't new at Redwood. They've been used for course scheduling in the fall for several years. But until this year, mid-year scheduling was done by plain old human counselors.

So what happened this year?

The machine handed out course changes for hundreds of students, far more than the counselors ever did. According to the school paper, the Redwood Bark, mathematics students wound up in art classes, boys were scheduled for girls' gym classes, and 70 of one mathematics teacher's 113 students were transferred to other classes instead of the average half dozen.

"To make no bones about it," said Asst. Principal Jack R. Baat, "we didn't feed enough into the machine."

Baat said some of the errors were strictly human — like boys in girls' gym classes, which he said happens every year when students have names which could belong to either sex. And he questioned the estimate that half the students had class changes.

The biggest problem, Baat said, was that the computer was set up to try to balance classes — to see each teacher of plane geometry, say, had a nearly equal number of students.

It wasn't set up, however, to keep students with the same teacher where possible. So the machine — and this was the major complaint by students, Baat said — transferred many students to other teachers, even though their old teacher taught at the same hour.

The switch from mathematics to art class appeared to be a human error because of similar teachers' names.

The schedule scramble brought a news story, an incensed editorial, and a pointed cartoon in the Redwood Bark, indicating that student journalists, at least, are not ready to be mechanized.

"The machine doesn't know any of the students . . . and is therefore unable to deal with them on a human level, which is the level upon which human beings MUST be dealt," the editorial said. "It seems . . . the student body . . . has been made a guinea pig."

The bugs in the computer system have been found, Baat said, and will be corrected next year. The computer will be fed more information and more classes will be "locked in" to prevent needless transfers of students, he said.

And the computer will continue to handle the class scheduling chores for both semesters.

Defendant Wins Drugs Verdict

Eric Hoberg, 20, of Lagunitas has been ruled innocent of a misdemeanor drug charge by the same judge who found him innocent of manufacturing the drugs after a court trial in December.

Hoberg was tried before Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Superior Court on a charge of manufacturing desoxyephedrine in his home on Arroyo Road. The judge found him not guilty of the felony offense, and requested briefs from attorneys on Hoberg's guilt or innocence on the lesser offense of possessing the drug. Yesterday, he ruled Hoberg innocent of that, also.

A charge against Harriett Hutman Papio, 30, who was arrested with Hoberg last May, was dismissed for insufficient evidence after a preliminary hearing.

Art, Garden Center Zone On Ross Council Agenda

The Ross Town Council is scheduled again tomorrow to consider rezoning the Marin Art and Garden eCnter and a variance to let the center continue operating an antique shop.

Both the zoning and the variance have been before the council for several weeks while discussions were held on limiting the types of shows and attractions allowed at the center.

The council meets at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall. A second public hearing is scheduled for rezoning the center from residential to community cultural district.

The council will also review the police and fire department budgets for 1967-68, and hear a report on the summer recreation program by Mrs. Laurie Felton.

Philip B. Lygren, town engineer, will review landscaping and utilities plans for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and will give a progress report on the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

Also on the agenda are a second public hearing on an ordinance limiting fence heights to six feet, discussion of acquiring Phoenix Lake, hearing on an ordinance on floor area ratios, and a variance request for a sign for Jean's Kitchen, 9 Poplar Avenue.

Lawnmower Taken

An electric lawnmower valued at $45 was stolen Sunday night from the garage of an empty house he owns at 36 Monte Visto, Nathan A. Giuliano of 27 Sunnyhill Road, Novato, reported yesterday to Novato police.

Professional associations have become legislative powers, says a UCB political scientist.

Judge Sets Hearing On Mill Valley Law

A two-day hearing on a suit seeking to prevent the City of Mill Valley from enforcing a real estate sign ordinance has been scheduled to start March 30 before Judge Thomas F. Keating in Marin Superior Court.

The suit, filed by Joe H. Stewart of Stewart Associates, Corte Madera, and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Eshleman of 10 Eton Way, Mill Valley, challenges the constitutionality of an ordinance limiting real estate "for sale," "for rent," and "for lease" signs to one per lot.

Mexico City has underway a massive beautification program. More than 10,000 evergreens, 650 Eucalyptus trees and 200 willow trees are being planted.

Heart Patient Sues Physician

A $250,000 damage suit for malpractice has been filed in Marin Superior Court against a San Francisco physician, Dr. F. Michael Brewster.

The plaintiff, Kenneth H. Norberg of 3000 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, alleges that between May 1 and Sept. 1 of 1964, the doctor wrongly diagnosed that Norberg had a heart ailment termed coronary infarction.

The diagnosis resulted in permanent damage to Norberg's nervous system and psyche, according to the suit.

Army General Hosts Marin City Officials

Six Marin mayors and city councilmen were among Bay area guests of Maj. Gen. E. A. Chapman, commanding general of the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, at a luncheon at Hamilton Air Force Base Tuesday.

Attending were Mayors C. Paul Bettini of San Rafael, J. Wayne Womack of Novato, John M. Reichmuth of San Anselmo and Vaughn M. Marker of Larkspur, Vice Mayor Roy Farrington Jones of Ross, and Councilman Dean Meyer of Mill Valley.

Day At The Races To Attract Many

By MOLLY MARIN

Among those planning to attend the Day at the Races on March 28 which is being sponsored by the Founders Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital are Mesdames Howard Burns, Ray Bolinger, Leslie Clason, John Finn III, Peter Behr, W. R. Vizzard, Robert McKendry, Philip Crane, M. M. Christy, Vincent White, Eugene McGeorge, Harrison Leppo, Fred Drexler, C. Frank Whitehead, John Wyand, William Perdue, John Richardson, George Marsh, William Ramsey, George Blackwell, Michael Leonis, Richard Rider, J. Ralph Martindale, George Turnbull, Whitney Robbins and Charles Woods.

MAUREEN MICHAEL of San Rafael sailed on Feb. 15 aboard the SS Constitution bound for the Mediterranean.

THE RICHARD Cruikshanks of Sausalito hosted a large bon voyage party last week aboard the Canberra in San Francisco. It honored Mrs. Cruikshank's 84-year-old uncle, Austin Oliver Thomas of Los Molinos, who was leaving for an extensive tour of the Orient.

JUST RETURNED to Sausalito from trips are Mrs. Emerson Burnett and Mrs. S. C. Stapp. Mrs. Burnett and her five-year-old son, Jeremy, have been in Washington, DC., for two weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. John Burns Jr. Mrs. Burnett is busy now decorating the new office on Sacramento Street in San Francisco of her husband, who has his own investments and securities business there. Mrs. Stapp has been gone two months visiting relatives all over the country. After going to St. Paul, Minn., Ann Arbor, Mich., New York City, Greenwich, Conn., and Columbus, Ohio, she drove to Clearwater and Lauderdale-By-The-Sea in Florida. Before coming home she flew to Mexico City. A great dog fancier, she found visiting the world famous Westminster Dog Show at Madison Square Garden in New York City one of the highlights of her trip.

Marin Women

Kenneth Niles Will Claim Bride In Tulsa Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Galloway of Tulsa, Okla., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Betsy Jean, to Kenneth Niles of Sausalito.

BETSY GALLOWAY

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Mike, Mark and Tracy Galloway of Tulsa, was graduated from the University of Arizona. Her sorority is Pi Beta Phi. She is a special education teacher in Oakland.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel L. Niles of Santa Rosa, was graduated from the University of Colorado. He is a member of The Bachelors of San Francisco and the St. Francis Yacht Club. His fraternity is Beta Theta Pi. Mrs. Gordon Dick and Rick Niles of Santa Rosa are his sister and brother. He has a real estate development business in San Francisco.

The wedding will take place on Aug. 26 in Tulsa.

'Needle And Thread' Class Series Planned

A series of classes, "Painting with a Needle and Thread," to be held in three different Marin County locations and teaching all the elements of the ancient art of crewel plus modern creative stitchery, have been announced by two well-known Bay Area artists in the field, Mrs. Janet Van Evera of Belvedere and Mrs. Marge Krejcik of San Francisco.

Daytime classes are scheduled for the Marin Art and Garden Center and evening classes at the Del Mar Junior High School and the Lucas Valley Community Center.

Mrs. Van Evera and her partner, Mrs. Krejcik, have been credited with re-introducing into this area the combined ancient arts of weaving and stitchery as well as creative stitchery. Both women have exhibited and won awards in more than 20 United States museums, including the winning of the "popular award" at the De Young Museum for a handsome nine foot, seven panel contemporary screen worked in wool on handwoven linen.

According to Mrs. Van Evera, "We teach over 30 basic stitches plus applique and decoupe which, when mastered can be used by the student to express her own creativity, whether it be a Jacobean crewel design for a chair covering, a San Blas Indian applique-type wall hanging or a screen as simple and contemporary as a Japanese brush stroke."

Classes at Del Mar Junior High on the Tiburon Highway start March 13 and will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Lucas Valley Community Center classes, also from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. begin March 16. Marin Art & Garden Center classes start March 29 and will be held from 10 a.m. to noon. Registration is being taken at the Center.

Women Golfers Name Chairmen

Mrs. Bruno Maraccini, president of the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, has announced appointment of 1967 standing committee chairmen.

They are Mesdames Harold Wagstaff and P. E. Dressler, guest luncheon reservations; Charles Apple, table decorations; E. O. Brown, guest day hostess on first tee; Joseph Wittenmeier and Fred Fellows, refreshments; Lou Long, bridge section; James Betts, benefit luncheon; swing club, William Jacobsen; John Hurley, parliamentarian; and John Ericson, publicity.

On Friday a large group of players will go to the Indian Valley Golf Club to play in a tournament under the North Bay Golf Association.

Divorce Is Too Easy, Says Judge

"Divorce is too easy," said Judge Joseph G. Wilson when he addressed 75 women attending the final lecture in the current "What Woman Are You?" series at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon yesterday.

In discussing the topic, "A Judge Looks at Marriage, Divorce and Widowhood", the Superior Court judge of Marin County redefined the topic. "The social and psychological impact on widows is great, but the courts only deal with probate of estates and property disposition."

One of the powers of a judge is to perform a civil marriage service. "I dread the 'drop-in marriage trade', when a couple seek out a judge to perform a hasty marriage service," he said. "I feel reluctant because I am not sure these people know what they are doing.

"Unfortunately our major contact is with broken marriages." the judge said. The high incidence of divorce, which in 1960 reached a total of 400,000 divorces in the United States, concerns the judge.

"There is a growing spirit of extreme pride and willfullness and an unwillingness to see the other person's point of view which is an underlying force in troubled marriages. Since divorce is easy the next step is to decide not to put up with it any more. Assertion of identity is not altogether bad" the judge continued. "But it should be used carefully in the most important relationship in the world."

In the past social pressure made it hard to break the marriage monds. Couples "sweated it out" and many marriages survived.

"I think marriage should be a permanent relationship. I would like to see delays in the granting of divorce where there is hope of mending the relationship," the judge continued. "The only delay now is the law of the land. I hope to see other obstacles put in the way. In Wisconsin there is a compulsory diagnostic session, but this costs money and it costs public money. California has a conciliation service which in the larger counties with assistance from a staff of psychologists and social workers can be very effective. In Marin conciliation service consists of a hearing held by the judge. We are not behavioral scientists or marriage counselors, but we do the best we can and occasionally help."

"Would delay only increase the bitterness?" asked one of the women. Another member of the audience referred to the passage in the play "Idiot's Delight" by Robert Sherwood where the heroine is asked, "Have you ever considered divorce?" "Divorce, no; Murder, yes," she responds.

"Fortunately," said Judge Wilson, "We have more deterrents for murder." —(BLF)

first choice for Easter

LAMB

More people around the world serve lamb for Easter dinner than any other meat. The tradition is as old as Easter itself. Give flair to your feast with the roast leg of lamb described on this page. It's tender, juicy, with a delightfully different flavor exclusively its own. Young lamb . . . here in time for an early Easter.

All in the family...

If you're not entertaining guests, and if yours is a small family, you can get 3 meals from 1 leg of lamb. Have your meatman cut 2 or 3 nice steaks from the sirloin end, roast the center section, and make stew or curry from meat cut from the shank of the leg. Average cost of each main dish: less than $2.

Egg-citing

The things you can do with eggs, hard-boiled for Easter! Paint faces on them—rosy-cheeked clowns, derring-do pirates, gypsies with sequin earrings. Create appropriate hats or head scarves. Mount eggs on stiff paper collars. Use them for Easter decor.

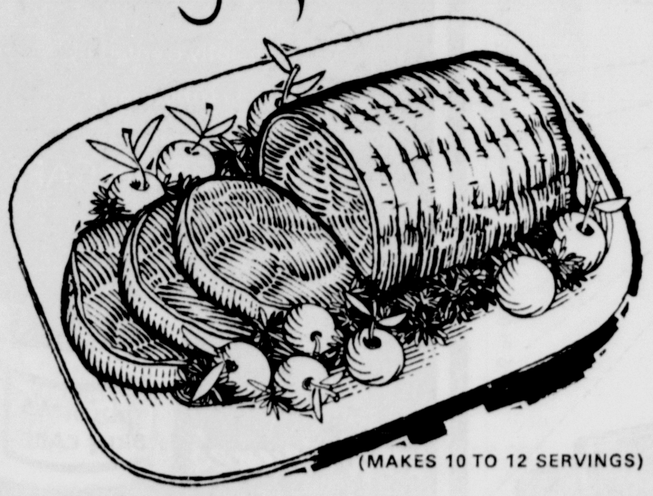
"In your Easter bonnet with all the frills upon it," it'll be easy to "con" your husband into taking you out to dinner. Enjoy milk-fed Spring lamb, tender and succulent, starred on the better menus these days. Then, promise yourself to duplicate the lamb main dish in your own kitchen . . . soon.

crabapple Leg of Lamb



(MAKES 10 TO 12 SERVINGS)

1 boneless leg of lamb in netting
Salt and pepper
1 can crabapples
½ cup brown sugar

Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Roast in slow oven (325°) for 35 to 40 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer registers 175° to 180°, depending upon desired degree of doneness. Drain can of crabapples, reserving ¼ cup of syrup. Combine reserved crabapple syrup with brown sugar; stir to blend. 30 to 45 minutes before end of roasting time, pour some of sugar mixture over lamb. Baste lamb frequently with sugar mixture during remainder of cooking period.

When lamb is done, slit netting on top side of roast and peel down. Garnish with crabapples and parsley.

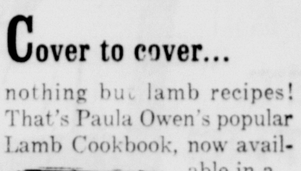
TO SERVE WITH LAMB:

Lemon Buttered Broccoli

½ CUP (1 STICK) BUTTER 3 TABLESPOONS LEMON JUICE

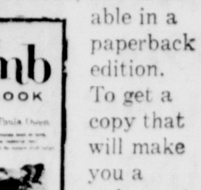
In a small saucepan melt butter; stir in lemon juice. Serve over cooked broccoli. Sufficient butter sauce for 12 servings of broccoli.

Surprise!



Many markets now feature the new boneless lamb leg and shoulder roasts processed in netting. They're oven-ready, easy to fix—and carve into the neatest slices ever! If you don't see them where you shop, ask your meatman to get them for you—wonderful, waste-free lamb in netting.

Cool spring salad



Lamb left over from your leg roast makes a superb salad. Combine 2 cups cooked diced lamb with a number 2 can of pineapple chunks, drained; 1½ cups diced celery, ½ cup chopped green pepper. Mix 1 tablespoon pineapple juice with ¾ cup salad dressing. Add to lamb mixture and toss well.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Someday He May Be 'Financially Able' For More Than A TV Tube

DEAR HELEN:

I have been going with this man for seven and three-quarters years. He has mentioned marriage, but he want to be "financially able" first. So he saves. He says movies are an extravagance when we can watch show that are just as good on television. He prefers home cooked meals. His idea of a big time is a visit to a free museum.

He has a good paying job, and he must be storing the money away, so he probably will make a pretty secure life for a wife, but I begin to think that all these economies are becoming a habit, and, when we marry, we'll just sit home and watch the bank account grow.

However, I've squandered seven and three-quarters years on him, and that's a big investment to toss away.

What really started me thinking was my birthday present. He gave me a replacement tube for my TV, which he checked out at the tube rack at the store.

His birthday is coming up. What should I give him.—WAITING ROSE

DEAR ROSE:

How about a tight T-shirt to match his nature?

. . . And maybe the gate? Marriage wise, I don't think you've got a live one.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I must answer "Inez" who smugly knocks working mothers. She sounds like th type who runs up charge accounts for something to wear at P-TA, Scouting, church and community endeavors, and then has Papa take a job evenings to pay the bills.

Working mothers think enough of their husbands' health so they take some of the load off them. And they don't sit back and act superior, all the time screaming how tired they are from housework, and all the work of taking care of their neighbors' children (whose mothers "have a ball holding down a job)."

Some of us get jobs evenings. We manage our homes and our children just fine, and our husbands don't begrudge our time away, for we make it up—and more—when we're with them. On Saturdays and Sundays we work together, making a home.

We aren't working because we "just can't stand to be home"—we are helping in a joint enterprise. And I wish these pure and holy little housewife-types would leave us alone. — BARBARA

DEAR HELEN:

Without telling me about it, my husband had an operation so he couldn't have any more children. I have been trying desperately to have another baby. Our doctor finally put me wise, after I went to him to find out why I was having no luck. He thought I knew.

Is this grounds for divorce?—HOODWINKED

DEAR H:

A lawyer might make a good case of it, if you could offer other valid charges of mental cruelty. However, sterility in itself is not grounds for divorce.

Possibly your husband has a good reason. Try a marriage counselor before you contact a lawyer.—H.

Lucas Valley Guild Elects Mrs. Glen Widdows Leader

The new president of Lucas Valley Guild of Sunny Hills Mrs. Glen Walter Widdows, holds bachelor degrees in both speech and elementary education as qualifications for her new role.

A three-term treasurer for the guild, Elaine Widdows has held her membership for six years. She names helping the boys and girls with social adjustment problems as the most important purpose of the group. To further this aim, members fashion a variety of handmade felt items which go on sale during the October Grape Festival and also have presented house tours during the past eight years. They plan a series of game nights to raise funds this year.

MRS. GLEN WIDDOWS

The wife of a packaging engineer for St. Regis Paper Co., Mrs. Widdows attended University of Iowa and was graduated from University of Washington in Seattle. She and her husband have resided nine years in San Rafael and are the parents of Laura, 9, Jay, 6, and Michael, 4. They attend Church of the Nativity of Marinwood where Elaine is a member of the choir and a past corresponding secretary of Episcopal Church Women. She is also a past treasurer of Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae and has worked with Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

This active woman also taught elementary school in Seattle and Redwood City and holds membership in Pi Lambda Theta and Zeta Phi Eta honorary societies.

Serving with her are Mesdames Stuart Schneider, vice president; Roland Fenz, recording secretary; Gale Hurd, corresponding secretary; Thomas McKay, treasurer; Willard Hamilton, Grape Festival chairman; Lester Kraft, Bargain Box chairman; Fred Wardenburg, assistant fund raising chairman; Gordon Hirst, assistant festival chairman; Sue Clark, publicity; and Kenneth Wong, social chairman.

West End P-TA Sets Art Show

"A Performance of the Three Lively Arts" will be the program when West End School Parent-Teacher Association meets at 3:30 p.m. in the kindergarten room. Mrs. George Osborn is chairman.

The school's sixth graders involved in San Rafael's elementary music program will present musical selections, and students of Mrs. Warren Marcus, a parent volunteer in poetry, will recite original haikus. Mrs. Herbert Johnson and Mrs. James Lowry, art appreciation volunteers, have arranged an art show of work done by grades two through six.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Reagan proposed today a $946 million tax package—four times higher than anything suggested by previous California governors.

THE ASSEMBLY

Bills passed:

Recall — Sets up uniform recall election procedures for special service districts; AB 148, Porter, D-Compton.

Election — Extends uniform district election law to about 1,500 special districts; AB 149, Porter.

Constitutional amendments introduced:

Budget — Reduces from two-thirds to simple majority margin needed to pass state budget; ACA 34, Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Funds—Allows cities and counties to use money allocated from state General Fund for local purposes when such allocations replace money lost from legislature - mandated property tax reductions; ACA 35, Veneman, R-Modesto.

Bills introduced:

Credit — Deletes provisions allowing student body to finance construction of student center by borrowing; AB 936, Ketchum R-Paso Robles.

Employment — Includes agricultural, domestic, election, non profit and state workers under unemployment insurance law; AB 957, Burton.

University — Requires State university regents to report annually to governor and legislature on salaries, hours and conditions of work of personnel; AB 915, Zenovich, D-Fresno.

Licenses — Revises power of courts to revoke or suspend drivers licenses in certain instances; AB 919, Biddle, R-Riverside.

Hair—Makes subject to minimum prices charged by barbers any person licensed by state cosmetology board who cuts male's hair; AB 920, Negri, D-Granada Hills.

Railroad—Requires at least 36 hours notice to a railroad before certain heavy equipment can be moved upon or across its tracks at a grade crossing; AB 921, Foran, D-San Francisco.

Land — Allows any city or county to spend public funds to preserve open spaces for public use; AB 934, Z'berg, D - Sacramento.

Probation—Allows county supervisors, as well as courts, to appoint or remove adult probation officers with court's consent; AB 931, Bagley.

Colleges — Changes name of state colleges to "state university"; AB 946, Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

Employes—Strengthens rights of public employes to bargain with employers; AB 943 - 4 - 5, Fenton, Meyers, D-San Francisco.

Resolutions introduced:

Disney—Asks federal government to issue stamp commemorating Walt Disney; AJR 12, Badham, R-Newport Beach.

THE SENATE

Bills passed:

Judges — Makes technical changes in state judicial codes conforming them to new procedures for selecting judges in the constitutional amendment approved by voters last fall as Prop. 1-a; also leaves a superior court judge's name off the ballot if he is running for reelection unopposed in any county; SB 156, Grunsky, R-Watsonville.

Juveniles—Prohibits a guardian from compromising in a court suit he is filing for a minor unless he gets court approval; SB 136, Mills, D-San Diego. Restricts the persons who may inspect documents in juvenile court cases; SB 138, Mills.

Notaries — Requires a notary public's commission expiration date to be on documents he notarizes; SB 41, Grunsky.

Bills introduced:

Credit — Makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $500 to knowingly make a material false statement about one's credit rating when applying for credit or a loan; SB 338, Wehtmore, R-La Habra.

Negligence — Provides that if an injured person sues someone else for damages, the fact that the person suing may have contributed to the accident won't bar him from collecting; SB 336 Moscone, D-San Francisco.

League Women See Legislators

About 70 members of the League of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin spent a day in Sacramento yesterday to meet Marin legislators, see the Legislature in session, and catch a glimpse of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Mrs. Keith Kalum of Mill Valley and Mrs. Roger Wurtz of Kentfield headed the delegation, which made the trip in two buses.

The women had lunch with Assemblyman William T. Bagley at the Hotel Senator and a meeting with Sen. John F. McCarthy.

Mrs. H. James Good, president of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin, had a brief chat with Governor Reagan as he stepped out of the press conference room.

Southland's Gas Tax Grab Wins Key Test

By WATT TAKESHITA

SACRAMENTO — Southern California's grab for a bigger share of the state gas tax funds cleared its first hurdle yesterday before the south-dominated Assembly Committee on Transportation and Commerce.

The committee rammed through AB-3 (E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego) by a strictly geographical 9 to 2 vote.

Committee Chairman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, and Frank Belitto, R-Eureka, the only two northerners on the committee, tried to bottle the bill in committee without success.

PASSAGE SEEN

The bill, which would give the south 60 per cent (instead of the present 55 per cent) share of the state highway fund, now heads for the Assembly floor, where southern domination is expected to give it smooth sailing.

Jack Peddy, programs and budgets engineer for the Division of Highways, led off the hearing with a presentation of highway statistics. Peddy said a 60-40 split would take about $36 million per year from the 45 counties of the north and add it to the share of the 13 southern counties.

MEETING TONE

In the middle of Peddy's testimony, Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, smilingly set the tone for the meeting by declaring flatly: "I'm prejudiced. My mind is made up. Don't confuse me with any more facts."

W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, moved for a "do pass" on the bill, and Landerman quickly seconded the motion. Seven others joined them to make it an easy victory for the south.

Chairman Foran said he expected the bill to reach the Assembly floor early next week.

"I don't see much hope of stopping the bill in the Assembly," Foran added. "The south has more than 50 votes. The only chance is on the Senate side."

One Bagley Open Meeting Proposal Clears Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — AB-244, an open-meeting law for all state agencies by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, easily cleared the Assembly Committee on Government Organization yesterday afternoon.

But Bagley's AB-245, which would tighten open meeting requirements for local agencies, ran into rough sledding and was put over for at least three weeks.

The Marin assemblyman, backed by Ben D. Martin, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association fought for approval of AB-245 until almost 6 p.m. against strong opposition.

"The present law (Ralph M. Brown Act) is strict enough," said Richard Carpenter, representing the League of California Cities. Further restrictions would hamstring local government to the point where it would be unworkable, Carpenter contended.

Committee member Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, was especially critical of Bagley's proposal to include specific application of the Brown Act to meetings of any formally designated committee or subcommittee of two or more members.

Moretti charged that two members of a city council, for example, could not meet in a restaurant without giving prior notice of their meeting.

"It doesn't apply to two members at a chance meeting," replied Bagley. "We refer to a duly constituted committee or subcommittee." Bagley and Martin argued that vital decisions are often made in committee and subcommittee meetings.

"What you really want," said Moretti, "is to see the Christians eaten by the lions in public."

"Well, yes, and maybe vice versa," replied Bagley.

Another committee member, Jack R. Fenton, D-Montebello, wanted to know why many legislative committees are permitted to meet in closed session if local agencies are not permitted to do so. "What's the difference between the Legislature and local agencies?" he asked.

"There's a great deal of difference," replied Martin, "every measure is printed, goes through a series of subcommittee and committee hearings, then to the Assembly floor and the Senate so that the public has ample notice. "In a local agency, when a two-man committee reports back, then bang! that's it."

Assemblyman Bagley and other committee members also argued over the right of public access to matters that might lead to litigation or when public discussion would benefit an adversary so that the public interest would suffer.

Without this provision, a closed session could be held on virtually any subject because the action taken "might" lead to litigation three years from now, Bagley argued.

Howard J. Smylie, executive vice president of the California Broadcasters Association, also spoke in support of Bagley's measure.

After almost two hours of debate, Chairman Harvey Johnson put the matter over for "at least three weeks."

Phone Charges Broadcast Topic

The effect of increased telephone rates on Marin County consumers will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

Speakers will be Everett C. McKeage, chief counsel of the State Public Utilities Commission; Jerry Ezrin, Bay Area information supervisor of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Arthur L. Danforth, treasurer of the Association of California Consumers, and Harold A. Gerrish, vice president in charge of public relations for Pacific Telephone.

The program will be repeated at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

'Physicists' First Curtain Is Postponed

Opening of the first dramatic production of Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts, Friedrich Durrenmatt's "The Physicists," has been postponed one week to March 17.

The play is to be produced Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p. m. for four weekends, excluding Easter weekend, in Mill Valley golf clubhouse.

William Sherman of San Francisco State College's drama department designed the unusual stage, which runs through the middle of the audience. Director is Martin Ponch.

The leading role of the physicist, Mobius, is played by David Sarvis, who directed several plays at the Actor's Workshop. Merle McDill plays the aristocratic hunch-backed psychiatrist in charge of the sanatorium in which the play is set.

Robert Herrell plays a patient who believes he is Einstein, and Emile Waldteufel plays a patient who imagines he is Sir Isaac Newton. In supporting roles are William Walsh, Mark Decker, Norman Moser, Brian Butte, Zachary Smith, and Mathew White.

VISIT TO ROSS CRAFTS SHOW

Rameen Moezzi, 9, (left) and her sister, Kambia, 5, of Santa Venetia are attracted by samples of works on display at Marin Society of Artists' annual crafts show at society gallery in Ross. The show, which opened Sunday, will run through March 25. Public hours of display at 2 to 4 p.m. daily.

Sausalito Art Festival Site Gets Council's Nod

Sausalito City Council voted last night to permit the Sausalito Arts Association to conduct 1967 Art Festival at the parking lot adjacent to the Bank of America.

The festival, held at the parking lot site last year, attracted thousands during its three-day run over Labor Day weekend.

One resident told councilmen he had never "known such a mass of human beings" to flock to Sausalito. He charged that "it's a definite hazard in the center of town."

He said if a disaster were to occur, it would be bedlam, and suggested another site be selected.

Mayor Mel Wax said the traffic congestion problem and passage for emergency vehicles would be "worked out" by city staff members between now and the festival.

In a memorandum to the council, Poilce Chief Edward S. Kreins said he was against use of the downtown area for the festival, "speaking strictly from a police viewpoint."

He said congestion last year made it impossible to drive an emergency vehicle through town.

Fire Chief C. E. Masten noted in his memorandum that he had no objection to the location. Congestion would hamper the flow of any emergency vehicle that had to go through the area, "but in all fairness it did not hamper us last year," he said.

Before the discussion Councilman Jan Paul Dyk showed color slides of last year's festival.

Marais Singers Performing For Classes In Marin

Singers Joseph and Miranda Marais, currently performing in Festival Theater's production of "Overkill and "Megalove," are demonstrating their musical art for Marin County School children.

Every Tuesday through April 4, they will adapt their talents to the understanding of first through fourth graders from 9:30 to 10:15 a.m., and for fifth through eight grades from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m.

The special program at the theater in San Anselmo is limited to students and has been arranged in cooperation with the Marin County schools office under a federal grant covering part of the cost.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Wait Until Dark' A Mystery Fan Must

By KARL BARRON

"Wait Until Dark," Frederick Knott's action thriller which opened at the Curran Theater Monday evening is a must for mystery fans who like to second guess what's happening on stage.

It's a well put-together piece with a climax that has the audience gasping, screaming and in general uproar, and the production is well staged and beautifully acted.

Knott puts three hoods in search of a doll stuffed with $50,000 worth of heroin in the apartment of a blind girl whose husband is away on a trip, and like a frightening game of chess, has his players plot moves to outwit each other.

Cleverly, he plants the handicaps which beset sightless Susy Hendrix and then has her use them to her own advantage, as when she deliberately cripples the lights, leaving the chief plotter more helpless than Susy is normally.

The gimmicks which abound, opening and shutting of window blinds, the refrigerator which at times is the only light on stage, are part and parcel of George Jenkins' solid functional setting — a realistic basement apartment in Greenwich Village.

The present production is directed with definitive sharpness by Porter Van Zandt, based upon Arthur Penn's original staging. It makes every move in the intricate chess game clear without hammering home the points.

The play depends wholly upon an actress capable of making credible a girl who is not only blind, but who is clever enough and courageous enough to carry through her determination to thwart the crooks.

As Susy, Shirley Jones does a magnificent job. Since she has only been blind for a few years, due to an auto accident, she uses an awkwardness of movement which is convincing, and maintains a sightless stare which furthers the illusion.

She skillfully gives the impression of heightened senses of touch, smell and hearing which aid the blind, and tops the whole characterization with an emotional trueness which never falters.

Jack Cassidy (her real life husband) is the villain of the piece, and a virtuoso villain he is, impersonating an old bum, then an old dandy, and ending as a ruthless killer who is wholly unbelievable.

Harris Yulin as the weak link in the gang presents a three-dimensional character of tremendous warmth, while Val Bisoglio carries off with easy finesse the major comedy role of a Bronx cop turned crook.

Michael Ebert plays the photographer husband of Susy competently. As Gloria, the little girl upstairs, Sheryl Mandel has a visually excellent character, but tends to be inaudible a good part of the time, so that we have to guess what she's saying. It appears to be a problem of articulation, rather than volume.

To sum up, "Wait Until Dark" is good box office theater, an evening's relaxation without too much demand being made upon the thought processes, and certainly a step above many Broadway "hits." It will continue nightly except Sunday, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, through March 18.

Ionesco Plays Due For Mill Valley Hall

William E. Hughes of Sausalito will direct the Homestead Players, Mill Valley community theater group, in two Eugene Ionesco plays, "The Bald Soprano" and "The Lesson," to be presented March 31 and April 1, 7, 8, 14 and 15 at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Hughes, 32, was formerly managing director of the Gate Playhouse Junior Theater and was a drama instructor in the Western Addition Drama Demonstration Project in San Francisco. He is a teacher at Richardson Bay School.

Prison Bids Opened

The State Department of General Services opened eight bids yesterday — the lowest $283,500 by DeNarde Construction Co. of San Francisco—for construction of a 6,800-square-foot addition to San Quentin Prison's kitchen and dining building for refrigeration of meats and vegetables.

Krupp Submits To Outsiders

BONN (UPI)—West German bankers and the government have finally humbled the fabled Krupp industrial empire, forcing the company to open its books, share in company policy making and to offer stock to the public, by 1968.

Yesterday, the officials and bankers announced the agreement with Berthold Beitz, 53-year-old "boy wonder" manager of the 150-year-old firm that helped arm Germany in two world wars, and with owner Alfred Krupp, who served prison sentences as a war criminal. Krupp, after World War II, vowed never again to make munitions.

The opening of the firm's affairs comes as a result of West Germany's tight money situation; although Krupp has millions of dollars worth of orders on the books, financiers no longer want to make short term loans without a say on firm policy.

Marin Craftsmen To Exhibit Wares

Four Marin County craftsmen will be among more than 100 showing their work in the exhibition California Crafts V, March 18 through April 23 at the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento.

They are Robert Zumwalt of San Rafael, Dale Roush of Stinson Beach, Carole E. Beadle of Fairfax, and Judy Perlman of Marshall.

A total of 798 kinds of birds and mammals are listed as in danger of extinction by the International Union for Conservation of Nature.

THIEVES' MARKET FOR MARIN CARS?

Highway Patrol Uncovers Brisk Trade In Transmissions From Stolen Autos

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

A shadowy ring of car thieves, who strip the vehicles of parts, especially transmissions, for resale on the black market, has been uncovered in Marin County by the California Highway Patrol.

Efforts are under way by the patrol to locate the fences who buy the stolen parts for sale in the underground "thieves' market," largely to young people.

How many tens of thousands of dollars in losses may be involved is unknown, but the patrol points out that 448 cars were reported stolen in the county last year and 339 were recovered locally.

Highway Patrolman Michael S. Berney, who has been put in charge of the crackdown on the racket, said most cars are stolen from San Rafael and Sausalito. Popular drop-off points for stripped cars, he said, are ravines at Stinson Beach and Muir Beach. Some are abandoned in Marin City and Tamalpais Valley.

Chief target of the thieves are $500 four-speed transmissions, taken from late model Chevrolets and put into earlier models, which came originally with three-speed transmissions. The result is a "souped up" car that has become a longed-for status symbol among youth.

The highwaypatrol has six of these stolen transmissions, worth about $3,000, at its Corte Madera office. Some of the transmissions, all confiscated numbers filed away, complicating the patrol's efforts to check their ownership.

Berney warned that any unsuspecting teen-ager who falls for an offer of a "rebuilt" — but actually stolen — transmission faces a dual danger. "He will lose that transmission to law enforcement officers for good," Berney said, and may even be cited for possession of stolen property."

Typical victims of the racket, according to Berney were a young San Francisco couple, stopped last Friday evening by Patrolman Harold D. Suggs at the north end of Richardson Bay Bridge because their 1947 Chevrolet had its headlights out of adjustment and no license plate.

The driver, David D. Cleaver, said they had bought the car 45 minutes earlier from a 19-year-old in San Francisco for $525. cash, using all their savings, and were out for a ride. They agreed to a check of the transmission. The numbers were found to have been obliterated.

The car was immediately impounded, and the Cleavers had to take a bus back to San Francisco.

In another case, James Robert Tresslar, 19, of 632 Tarragon Drive, Terra Linda, agreed to let Highway Patrolman Archie Stewart check the transmission on his 1957 Chevrolet on Puerto Suello Hill Saturday. Its serial number had been defaced. Tresslar was cited on suspicion of possession of a stolen transmission, Berney said.

Highway Patrol Capt. T. F. Parnow said "These four-speed transmissions are real hot items. There's a great deal of theft."

How highly organized the thieves' market may be remains uncertain. Captain Parnow said "any conclusions would be premature, but we are investigating."

Meeting Reset

Election of officers for Glenwood Homeowners Association scheduled for last night, was postponed until March 16, at 8 p.m. at the Church of the Redeemer parish hall.

More School Site Work Is Approved

Fairfax School District trustees last night approved additional site development work at White Hill School.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said site development should be completed in about a week. Bids for construction of school are to be opened March 21.

The board directed Hammond to start procedures for annexation of Deer Park School by the city of Fairfax, and for fire protection by the city for White Hill School until annexation is completed.

Hammond was directed to determine terms for lease-purchase of four portable classrooms as well as the cost of another year's lease. He said the leasing firm will sell the two double-classorom buildings for $13,000 apiece, less than half the rioginal cost of $27,000. The portables will be needed until the new White Hill school is completed.

Preliminary budget figures presented by Hammond indicated a probable increase in income of $19,000, which he said is "just about enough" to meet increased costs. The board asked Hammond for detailed expense figures at the next meeting to see if cuts can be made elsewhere to hire more teachers and reduce class sizes.

A special board meeting was set for 9 a.m. April 8 to work out meeting rules.

Youngster Treated For Auto Injuries

Dale C. Sandquist, 9, of 48 Woodbine Drive, Mill Valley, was treated yesterday at Kaiser Hospital in Terra Linda for a cut left eyelid suffered when a car in which he was riding hit a road sign in Mill Valley.

This mother, Mr. Marina Sandquist, 46, told police she hit the sign on East Blithedale Avenue near Roque Moraes Drive when blinded by headlights of an oncoming car.

North Marin Water Board Delays Annexation Action

The North Marin County Water District board last night heard some protest and some favorable comment on the proposed annexation in Inverness and Point Reyes Station, but postponed action on it until its March 21 meeting.

Opposition came mainly from two Novato residents who are employees of the state Public Utility Commission, George Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way and A. L. Gieleghem of 514 Mc Clay Road. They asked for an election in the area before it is annexed.

Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager, said it would cost about $2,000 to hold such an election. Water board members said the money could be better spent on engineering costs. Gilbert pointed out that only 1.4 per cent of the registered voters protested the annexation.

Gordon Pusser of Inverness spoke for the annexation of the area, as did county supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who said the North Marin district had "overwhelming public support for the annexation."

The water district board awarded Bank of California sale of $1 million in bonds at an average interest rate of 4.1456 per cent.

Youth Held For Till Tap

A 17-year-old Tiburon youth was in Marin Juvenile Hall today after allegedly taking $10 yesterday afternoon in a till-tap of a cash register at Egger and Son Nurseries, 700 Sir Francis Drake Bouvelard, Kentfield.

A second youth was sought, sheriff's officers said.

John Robert Cooper, a nursery employee, said he was with a customer in the nursery yard when he heard the office register ring. As he arrived in the office, two youths fled.

Deputies arrested the 17-year-old shortly afterward in a nearby store. They said loot apparently was a single $10 bill.

Novato Council Bows; Civic Center To Stay

By THERON A. NEWELL

The Novato Civic Center will not be moved — at least not for a couple of years — the Novato City Council decided last night after a public hearing.

The vote was 4 to 1, with Councilman William Jack Adams voting against keeping the civic center at its present location.

The council a few weeks ago stood 4 to 1 for a new civic center, with only M. E. Babe Silva in favor of keeping city offices at their present location. But last night it faced formidible opposition which has been increasing in recent weeks.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget recommended that the city notify the Novato Unified School District and Marin County that it is not possible to continue work to select and acquire a civic site with them. He also recommended buying land to the north of the present community hall.

Arrayed against the council moving the civic center was a tabulation of a Junior Chamber of Commerce survey which showed nearly two to one opposed, a chamber of commerce vote against it, and petitions with 1,108 signatures in opposition obtained by the Downtown Merchants Association.

Although the meeting was billed as a public hearing, the first hour and a half was spent by councilmen telling the crowd of 60 why they had changed their minds — except for Adams who had a prepared three-page statement on why he would not change his mind.

In his statement, Adams said he would not seek re-election next year.

The final motion was made by Councilman Douglas M. Merrill, who told the crowd that the pressure exerted was "legislation by intimidation."

The motion was for the moves Baget had suggested.

With councilmen stating their individual positions before the hearing, there was no need for much opposition.

Robert McCreadie, attorney for the Downtown Merchants Association, said he did not need to deliver his prepared remarks.

Mrs. Marjorie Long of 662 Olive Avenue brought down the house when she suggested that it was time that "someone made a study of the poor guy who is paying the taxes."

Sam A. Harkleroad of 17 Harkle Road said to lose the community hall "would be terrible."

"Get the things done we need done most before you think of a new civic center," urged Joseph Bonomolo of 201 San Felipe Way.

James Pelmulder, president, reported the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce board had endorsed the city's getting land for a future civic center. This was the only backing the council got on the idea of the move.

Affairs Council Sees Big Role In Master Plan

The planning committee of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, at an organizational session at the Civic Center last night, agreed that it should probably be the group seeking cooperation from cities on a general plan for the county.

County Planning Dir. Paul C. Zucker told the 13 committee members that federal and state funds are available for the study, but applications for the coming fiscal year must be in by May.

The committee, headed by temporary chairman Harold Stockstad, agreed to devote next session, probably in two weeks, to a full explanation of what is proposed by the general plan.

Mrs. William C. Anderson was named vice chairman and secretary. Edward J. Neumeier will serve as publicity chairman.

The pacavicuna, a cross between the vicuna and alpaca, yields only two pounds of wool a year, but this is four times that of a pure vicuna.

San Francisco Trio Arrested

Three San Francisco women were arrested at the Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center yesterday at 3:45 p.m. and charged with burglary, conspiracy and petty theft, according to Corte Madera police.

Police said four suits, valued at a total of $125, were taken from the store. A store security guard stopped the women.

Arrested were Susan Baggette, Tina Perez and Sangerra Howard, all 22. They were held in Marin County jail today in lieu of $550 bail each.

Police said the jail matron discovered the women were wearing girdles upside down. An officer said this is a method shoplifters use to fasten stolen clothes under their own dresses.

Alaskan Climbers Spotted Safe On McKinley Slopes

TALKEETNA, Alaska, (AP) — Three mountain climbers who had been objects of a massive search and rescue operation were reported safely descending Mount McKinley today, but it was anybody's guess whether they got to the top.

"I'd say it's even money that they went on up the South Peak," said veteran bush pilot Don Sheldon. McKinley's South Peak stands 20,320 feet, making it the highest point in North America.

The three — Art Davidson, 22, Dave Johnson, 24, and Ray Genet, 35 — struck out from a 17,200-foot camp March 1. Clouds soon shrouded the summit and wind in the area was reported at 90 to 115 miles an hour. Temperature was believed to be 45-50 below zero, perhaps colder. The men had a two-day food supply.

About noon yesterday Maj. Wilder S. Rice of Milton, Mass., pilot of an Air Force C-118 cargo plane, spotted the trio about 18,300 feet up the mountain. As the C-118 and a C-130 hovered overhead, the climbers worked their way down to 17,200 feet.

Sheldon flew over in a light plane and dropped two Air Force radios and a half-dozen oranges from a height of about 75 feet. The men ate the oranges. The radios, although packed for dropping, were apparently damaged. There has been no radio contact.

Two-District Pupil Transfer Talk Set

A meeting for parents of Mill Valley school children in fourth through seventh grades who are interested in the transfer program with Sausalito will be held March 29 at Richardson Bay School at a time yet to be decided.

The interdistrict committee of the two districts is exploring inclusion of kindergarten through fourth grade pupils in the transfer program, reported Mill Valley Supt. G. R. McConnell, but has taken no action on the proposal.

Woman Surrenders To Face Marijuana Smuggling Charges

Mrs. Roberta Marie Buckley was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana into county jail, and attorneys were appointed to represent her and two co-defendants.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled entry of pleas by Mrs. Buckley, Eugene O. Boehm, 21, and Merton Wesley Spaulding, 21, for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

He named David J. Costamagna, San Rafael attorney, to defend Mrs. Buckley, an employee of a Walnut Creek pizza parlor at $45 a week salary, and Richard H. Breiner of the public defender's office to represent Spaulding.

Judge Roth noted that Boehm had been denied a court-appointed attorney in a felony child-beating case when Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court learned that Boehm's father posted $27,500 bail for him. However, Judge Roth referred Boehm's case to Sausalito attorney A. Leanard Bjorklund pending determination of Boehm's eligibility for free counsel.

Boehm claimed yesterday his father is no longer responsible for him.

Mrs. Buckley allegedly placed a parcel of marijuana in a garbage can outside the county jail Sunday. Spaulding is accused of picking it up to deliver it to Boehm.

Boehm is serving a year in county jail for beating 15-month-old Timothy Wayne Buckley, who was Mrs. Buckley's son. The child died last August of injuries allegedly suffered in beatings. Judge Wilson suspended a state prison sentence in giving Boehm the year in jail, after a murder charge filed against Boehm had been dropped by the district attorney's office.

Mrs. Buckley surrendered voluntarily yesterday after a warrant for her arrest had been issued. Judge Roth released her without bail pending tomorrow's plea entry.

Car Overturns; Teen-Ager Hurt

Peter De Jung, 16, of 57 Mount Rainer Drive, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries when thrown form a car which overturned on Lucas Valley Road at 6:40 p.m. yesterday.

The car, driven by Andrew Thomas McIntyre, 16, of 17 Capilano Drive, Movato, went off a curve five miles west of Highway 101 and rolled over, ejecteing De Jung, before stopping upright in a drainage ditch, according to California Highway Patrol.

De Jung told the patrol he would see his own doctor.

Cal Teachers' Report Roasts Reagan Moves

BERKELEY (AP)—The University of California's Berkeley campus Academic Senate Policy Committee is criticizing the Reagan administration.

The criticism was contained yesterday in a "State of the Campus Message" which predicted at least another year of turbulence on the 28,000-student campus.

Last year's California gubernatorial campaign and the dismissal of Clark Kerr as U.C. president, the report said, "severely compromises the university's traditional position of freedom from destructive political intervention."

The 17-page report tagged Kerr's firing "reckless and sensitive."

Drunken Driving Draws $174 Fine

Edwin Sydney Harris, 43, of 12 Crescent Circle, Fairfax, was fined $174 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Feb. 23 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Larry L. Edmonson, 20, of 177 D Street, San Rafael, was fined $146 and placed on six months probation, also for drunken driving. The patrol arrested him Saturday on Highway 101.

Chambers Due No More Funds From County

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday ruled that the chambers of commerce in Marin's cities will gest no more county money for promotion and development.

The action, by unanimous vote, came after a long debate on how the promotion and development budget will be handled next fiscal year in light of the board's recent decision to disband the county's promotion and development department.

County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended that contributions to cultural activities and promotional organizations be limited to no more than $60,000, down from the $82,845 allowed this fiscal year.

He suggested that $28,800 of this, expected from the hotel-motel room tax, support promotional activities, including the Marin Visitors Bureau and the county chamber of commerce. The balance would go toward cultural activities, such as Festival Theater and Marin Symphony.

Bruce said the board could either name him to administer allocation of money, name a commission, or continue to determine the allocations itself.

Supervsior Ernest N. Kettenhofen moved that $30,000 be put up for cultural activities and the Redwood Empire Association, and that $30,000 or the proceeds of the hotel-motel tax — whichever is greater — be allocated to the Marin Visitors Bureau and the county chamber of commerce, with the Visitors Bureau to get four-sevenths of the total, and the county chamber, three-sevenths.

Kettenhofen reminded the board that it agreed last budget session to give no more to city chambers if the cities did not join with the county in the motel-hotel tax, giving collections to the county for distribution. No city did this.

Richard Nave of the Novato chamber protested that there is just one small motel in the Novato city limits and the demand by the board was unfair Mill Valley and San Anselmo have no motels.

Though the vote for Kettenhofen's motion was unanimous, Supervisor William A. Gnoss apparently did not understand that the Novato chamber was being cut from future grants. He asked Nave at the close of the session if Nave understood how much the chamber would get. This brought so much laughter that Nave's reply was drowned out. Gnoss,however, let the matter rest.

Rotary Clubs Slate Joint Luncheon Date

Six Marin Rotary clubs will hold a joint luncheon meeting March 16 as part of Rotary International's "World Understanding Week," March 12-18.

Rotary Clubs of Mill Valley, Novato, San Anselmo, San Rafael, Sausalito and Terra Linda will meet at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner will be the main speaker.

Hub Trustees Told Budget May Rise By $78,000-Plus

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi told the San Anselmo School District board last night that additional expenses to which the district is already committed or which seem imminent for the 1968 budget total $78,611.

This figure does not include any pay increases for district employees, he said, except for $15,335 to cover normal step increases in teachers' salaries; $8,200 for automatic increases for teachers who take sufficient graduate courses, and $6,000 for teachers who earned credits after earning their bachelor degrees but before earning their teaching credentials.

He said salary and incidental expenses for the district curriculum co-ordinator will be a maximum of $18,000.

Another teacher will be needed at Isabel Cook School, and two teachers will be needed at Redhill Intermediate School, he said. A small school bus may cost the district $8,500.

The board accepted the resignation of Jean Stover, a teacher at Brookside School who has been with the district since 1940, effective in June. Miss Stover was principal-teacher at the old Sir Francis Drake School from 1940 to 1949, and was principal of Brookside School from 1950 to 1962.

The board granted Marilyn Hurt, a teacher at Sleepy Hollow School, a leave of absence for next school year, to work for her master's degree.

Persistent dark circles under the eyes or "allergic shiners" may be a prominent sign of chronic nasal allergy in childhood.

Leakey Collapses From Exhaustion

CHICAGO (UPI) —Dr. Louis S.D. Leakey, noted anthropologist, was reported resting well today in a Chicago hospital, recovering from exhaustion. He collapsed yesterday at O'Hara International Airport.

Leakey was first believed to be the victim of a heart attack. The fatigue apparently resulted from the rigors of a speech making tour which began on the West Coast.

Reed Board Still Wants Hilarita Site

Trustees of Reed School District still are interested in the Hilarita site and hope to acquire it for expansion of Reed School when money becomes available, they said in a resolution adopted last year.

Children from district schools gave trustees a demonstration of the Spanish program, which is included at all grade levels. John. C. Fitch, principal of Granada and Bel Aire schools; Mrs. Flora Flores, district Spanish specialist; Eva Marie Nieto, head of the tlementary school program, and Gillespie P. Baker, Spanish teacher at Del Mar School, led the demonstration.

Supt. H. Joseph Edgington was authorized to obtain portable buildings for storage at Reed and Del Mar schools.

Trustees approved a summer session curriculum and adopted a $16,805 summer school budget presented by Del Mar teacher Leland G. Spencer, who is in charge of the summer program.

Action on requiring tuberculin tests every year for teachers, instead of every two years, was deferred until next meeting.

A special meeting March 14, to discuss reemployment of teachers was cancelled. Next regular meeting of the board will be March 21.

Fairfax Building Costs Figured

Fairfax City Administrator David J. Sumbardo, who favors replacing the city's 675-square-foot city hall with a 4,000-square-foot building, today said this would cost about $125,000 exclusive of architect's fees.

He noted that this would include a 1,900-square-foot council chamber for the city fathers who now meet at the Fairfax Women's Club.

He said he was speaking of the police and fire department building, and not of the city hall, at Monday's town hall meeting, when he said remodeling would cost $135,000, or about $50,000 less than to build a new one.

Dixie Board To Meet On Budget Proposals

Trustees of Dixie School District tonight will give further consideration to a proposed $2,807,000 budget for the coming fiscal year and discuss teacher salaries and fringe benefits.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the district office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Supervisors Back Bolinas Lagoon Freeze

Marin County supervisors yesterday, with one dissent, continued the "freeze" on development at Bolinas Lagoon for 90 days.

Supervisor John F. McInnis, who appeared at one time ready to vote against the freeze, voted for it, but said there would be no further extension as far as he was concerned.

DECIDING VOTE

His was the deciding vote since the action was an interim ordinance requiring a four-fifths vote of the board. Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissented, as he did when a 90-day freeze was first voted in November.

The County Planning Commission Monday asked that the original restriction of development in and around the lagoon be extended for a year. But Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Frost told supervisors yesterday that the original 90 days had expired so there technically was no extension to act upon.

Pierre W. Joske, director of the county park and recreation department, said the state has already approved $172,000 in park bond funds for purchase of Bolinas shoreline, but it will be about eight months before the county will know whether federal matching funds will be available.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Joske said he is still getting property appraisals and it will be about a month before he can submit application for federal funds.

Kettenhofen said he was strongly in favor of public ownership of the shoreline but charged that an interim zone freezing development was a denial of property rights and unjust.

Shoreline land owners yesterday agreed with Kettenhofen. John Campbell of Muskrat Corp. with an 11-home project proposed on 15 acres of the north shore, said delays have hurt land values.

McInnis at one point said he thought the zoning action for the purpose of public acquisition was illegal, but Forest said it was not, and that development would not actually be frozen but could be allowed if developers could get a use permit. The uses proposed, however, are supposed to comply with the county master plan which shows most of the area under public ownership.

Purse Is Stolen

Mrs. Dorothy Holmes, 22 Juno Road, Tiburon, reported to Tiburon sheriff's officers yesterday that her purse was taken from her car while it was in the driveway overnight.

Supervisors Delay Action On Fish-Game Fine Funding

Cutting support for the Marin Rod and Gun Club, with game fines going instead to the Louise A. Boyd Museum in San Rafael, was debated briefly by supervisors yesterday, but decision was delayed two weeks.

Fines collected for fish and game violations bring about $2,500 to the county each year. This has gone for several years to the Rod and Gun Club, which has accumulated $14,786. The county administrator's office reported that the club has spent only $3,649 of the funds in the past five years.

Leonard Tibbott of the club told the board that the fund has been allowed to accumulate for purchase of aerators to be put in lakes of Marin Municipal Water District. These devices improve fishing and cut down on the cost of chlorination, he said. The problem has been whether the club or the water district would maintain the aerators.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

HOLDING ZONE —Asked the county planning commission to study a request by the Mill Valley City Council for an exclusive agricultural zone in Marin that would limit residences to those connected with ranch operation only.

NEW EMPLOYEES — Hired Hugh W. Davy Jr. as director of business services in the probation department at $790 a month; Robert C. Cybulski as deputy probation officer 11 at $650; Charles H. Coffey as employment counselor at $619, and Terrance Brooks as general apprentice at $345 a month in in the social services department.

CONFERENCE — Agreed to send four from the planning department to the annual meeting of the California chapter of the American Institute of Planners in Monterey March 18. Supervisor Peter H. Behr dissented, saying this violated recently adopted board policy limiting conference attendance to two from a department.

PUBLIC WORKS CHANGE— Approved a change in the public works department, deleting one assistant director position and adding two principal engineer positions.

CLAIM — Denied a claim for $200 by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for damages alleged when a backhoe cut a line Feb. 7 at Madrone Street and Poplar Drive in Kentfield.

TAX BILLS — Agreed to follow the option of a new law and not send out receipts for taxes unless they are requested. County treasurer-tax collector Stanley J. Fontez also told the board he will not put postage on the self-addressed envelopes sent with the bills. Total saving envisioned from both changes is about $12,000.

RADIO —Denied the request of the Bolinas fire chief for installation of a leased county radio in his private car, fearing that it would set a precedent.

SAFETY — Awarded $10 checks for safety suggestions to dispatcher Helen Hodge of the sheriff's office, who suggested safety glass in the partition near the booking desk, and maintenance man Julian Bowie, who suggested chain guards for power mowers.

BEHR TIRES — Endorsed Behr's suggestion for a layer of colored rubber in tires to show when the tread had worn close to the danger point.

COFFEE MACHINE — Delayed action on the planning commission's recommendation that the recently installed coffee machine near the commission and board meeting rooms be removed because it is not attractive and commissioners do not like the coffee.

Advice Offered On Women, Child Jobs

A State Division of Industrial Welfare agent will be on duty in the Marin County Civic Center March 17 to dispense information on working conditions for women and minors as provided by the state labor code.

Employers or employees may call the agent at the center, extension 293, or visit him in room 342. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Remodeling Funds Are Withdrawn

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that Mill Valley City Council voted $15,000 Monday night to remodel the old library and city hall for new offices.

A motion to authorize the expenditure was made and seconded, but withdrawn pending study by city engineer Stanley M. Bala of the structural safety of the old library.

Aviation Leaders Due Through Air Base

National leaders in aviation and aerospace will arrive via Hamilton Air Force Base for the Air Force Association convention at San Francisco next Wednesday through Friday.

Among them will be Harold Brown, secretary of the Air Force, and Gen. J. P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, who will be the convention's main speakers.

HOW DO YOU BECOME CALIFORNIA'S BIGGEST CHRYSLER DEALER?

DOUG DICKER doesn't pretend to have the answer . . . But he's TRYING . . . Here are a few of the ways he hopes to become NUMBER ONE!

1. DOUG DICKER customers have the option of ORDERING any new car at a guaranteed base price . . . without being coerced into buying loaded models off our floor!
2. DOUG DICKER'S HIGH VOLUME SALES cut the unit cost on every car. These savings are automatically passed on to you.
3. The convenient "$50 Delivers" and "Pick-Your-Payment" program at Doug Dicker's has enabled hundreds of Marinites to purchase cars they had never before realized they could afford to own.
4. A friendly, courteous sales staff at Doug Dicker's relies upon your customer intelligence to know "a good buy" without resorting to high-pressure tactics.
5. A factory-trained, factory-equipped service department (all Dicker mechanics are graduates of Chrysler's factory training program) is geared to handle high volume service requirements to customer satisfaction.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO RESOLUTION NO. 6-67

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "VINEYARD ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 1" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That it has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Vineyard Road Annexation No. 1", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description is in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, April 11, 1967, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto, in the manner required by law.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 14th day of February, 1967, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN ADAMS, McASKILL, MERRILL, WOMACK
NOES: COUNCILMEN NONE
ABSENT: COUNCILMEN SILVA.

CBS Will Retain 'Gunsmoke' Series

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS TV, which recently canceled its "Gunsmoke" series, has reinstated the veteran western on its fall schedule, apparently partly because of the reaction of the network's affiliate stations.

The reaction of the press was also supposedly a factor, but this is usually only important to a network when significant programming is involved, such as major theatrical pieces or documentaries—and is not particularly pivotal in the case of mass audience series, which have only one purpose: money.

REAL REASONS

Despite all the stories and rumors leaked out confidentially in such cases of reinstatement, it is usually highly questionable that all of the real reasons come out, and normally they are fairly trivial anyway unless one is a trade buff. Perhaps, in addition to the public reasons, there is a financial settlement with a star. Perhaps a network plays possum this early in the scheduling season. Maybe another series isn't shaping up and has to be dumped. Maybe a couple of people hit it off at a cocktail party. It happens.

At any rate, CBS-TV says "Gunsmoke" is coming back—but will switch nights, leaving its present late Saturday slot in exchange for Mondays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. EST. It will be the western's 13th season, and the show's return is causing the dumping of the situation comedy "Gilligan's Island" and a planned new half-hour comedy called "Doc," about an eldery physician who wants to retire, and his young replacement, who has a lot to learn.

LOW RATING

On the more obvious level of reasoning, "Gunsmoke" had its usual solid rating in the national statistics issued Monday—finishing 37th among all shows—and "Doc" was the only planned new CBS-TV series with an old-age image at a time when the network is definitely pursuing the young adult audience. "Gunsmoke" probably has an older following, but it is adjustable, and a pretty fair program to boot.

While "Gunsmoke" is having a good week, another veteran western, NBC-TV's "Bonanza," the longtime No. 1 series, was continuing to slip in popularity since CBS-TV put on a new variety show, the Smothers Brothers hour, opposite it. In the last national ratings, "Bonanza" slipped to sixth place. This time it slid all the way to 15th, with the Smothers Brothers coming in 23rd. It is difficult to remember the last time "Bonanza" was out of the top 10.

NORMAL SPOT

Dean Martin, who led the last national ratings, dropped to a more normal slot—21st—which is about his range and quite healthy. The new ratings leader is CBS-TV's Red Skelton. On April 18, by the way, the Skelton hour will be a one-man concert in pantomime, "Laughter—the Universal Language," to be taped in New York March 30 before an invited audience of United Nations ambassadors and delegates.

Over at NBC-TV, meanwhile, the planned fall hour series of Martin's former comedy partner, Jerry Lewis, has been shifted from Fridays to Tuesday. One effect of this is that Lewis will not have to be on the night following Martin's popular NBC-TV series, which airs Thursdays. A source, by the way, says that the Lewis show is currently slightly up in the air over contractual matters, but adds hopefully that he feels the situation will be straightened out. The source also said that although the contract is signed, such documents are known to contain escape clauses.

Audubon Canyon Is Open For Public Visits

Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas— the last major rookery of great blue herons and American egrets in Marin County — is opent o the public through July 5.

From special overlooks, visitors can watch the birds nesting or they can tramp a nature trail, Satrudays, Sundays and holidays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Maintained as a wildlife sanctuary and nature educational center, the ranch is also open to schools, clubs and other groups Wednesdays through Fridays by appointment.

A naturalist is on duty and there is a self-guiding nature trail for visitors, and a three-mile hiking trail.

About 55 species of water birds can be seen at the 569-acre ranch during the year together with 90 different land birds. Many feed in adjoining Golinas Lagoon where an additional 368 acres are leased from Bolinas Harbor District.

In charge of group appointments is Mrs. Stanley Ellis of 2483 Mar West, Tiburon.

Penguins which have been released on land far from their homes are able to chart a straight-line course to the sea.

Two Arrested In Jewelry Theft

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Two nurses' aides were booked in the San Mateo County Jail yesterday on charges of stealing $20,000 in jewels from the bedside of an aged opera singer at the University Branch Convalescent Hospital in Menlo Park.

The suspects were identified as Hattie Haynes, 23, Menlo Park, and Barbara Johnson, 25, East Palo Alto.

Police said they admitted taking the jewels, which were recovered in San Francisco Saturday when the two suspects tried to pawn them. But the nurses' aides claimed the owner was dead.

Belli Denies Wedding Rites

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Attorney Melvin Belli charged yesterday that he and Pat Montandon went through an engagement ritual on Oct. 12 in Japan but not a marriage ceremony.

Belli said in an affidavit filed in the county clerk's office that the ritual alone was "not sufficient to establish the relationship of husband and wife in Japan, or any place, but a subsequent legal registration is absolutely necesssary."

He added he never took the ultimate step because as soon as the Shinto ceremony was over, Miss Montandon made "extravagant and outrageous financial and commercial demands" on him.

Drake Vs. Newark Tomorrow In Champs Tourney

By GARY TISCHLER

This is it.

The Camelot and Mount Olympus of Bay Area prep basketball tournaments explodes on the scene tomorrow when the 22nd annual High School Tournament of Champions opens first-round play at the new Oakland Coliseum Arena at 4:30 p.m.

And right in the middle of a glittering, powerful eight-team lineup that has an aggregate won-lost mark of 155-34 are the Drake Pirates, champions of Marin County Athletic League for the second straight year.

The odds, as they have always been for the smaller MCAL, are of Custer proportions for Coach Carl Brown's Pirates but they are in some ways better than they have ever been.

The Pirates meet Newark of the Mission Valley Athletic League, owners of a 21-1 season record and the second best scoring machine in the tournament in a first-round game at 7:30 p.m.

In the opener, Balboa's tall Buccaneers, champions of the San Francisco Academic Athletic Association after a hectic playoff with Poly, meets Hayward, 20-4, and champ of the Hayward Athletic League at 4:30.

That game will be followed at 6 p.m. by what might be the mismatch of the tourney, if records and reputation mean anything. Berkeley, winner here in 1949 and runner-up in 1958 and 1963, takes on Granada, owner of a so-so 13-9 mark, the worst mark among the tourney entrants.

Berkeley, the Alameda County League champ, has the best record in the lists with a 27-1 showing. Only two of its players scale over six feet while one, 5-7½ Doug Kagawa has the distinction of being the smallest player and starter in the tournament.

At 7:30 it's Drake and Newark while the last game of the opening round could provide the biggest fireworks, when North Bay League champ Petaluma, 21-3, the highest scoring outfit in the tourney with a 79.6 average, takes on Fremont, champ of the Oakland Athletic League after a playoff victory over perennial TOC entrant McClymonds.

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Wed., March 8, 1967 35

Fremont won the tourney in 1965 and has six TOC appearances to its credit, best among this year's competitors.

"It looks pretty fair for us," Drake coach Carl Brown said of the Pirates' tourney chances. "I'd rather play Newark than Fremont or somebody like McClymonds."

Brown was thinking about the all-important height factor. He has an ace in the hole with 6-6 center Jerry Sprout the tallest cager in the tournament. Newark, despite prolific scoring led by 6-2 forward Tom Lunceford (22.8), has only average height and a so-so defense.

The Pirates have been here before. They have three prior trips to the TOC and have a commendable 6-3 showing for their efforts, winding up as consolation champs last year, after losing a 47-51 heartbreaker to McClymonds in opening round play.

This will be Newark's first trip to the TOC.

Another Drake high card is its defense, best in the tournament. The Pirates, although they have the worst offensive showing, have allowed only 42.4 points per game, nine points better than Granada and 19 points better than Newark.

Should the Pirates get by Newark, they will face the winner of the Fremont-Petaluma tussle, an unhappy prospect at best. Fremont is the acknowledged favorite here and, along with McClymonds, a perennial powerhouse in the Oakland area.

Sprout and forward Chet Carlisle, both of whom saw heavy action at the TOC last year, will have to provide much of the Drake offensive punch. Carlisle leads the Pirates with a 14-point average in MCAL play while Sprout has a 12.4 showing.

Sprout, who shoots sparingly, is the most accurate of the Pirates with a 48 per cent field goal showing. Potentially, he

Alan Gallagher Seems Headed For Stardom With The Giants

HANLEY

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — Alan Gallagher may become the first home grown star of the Giants since their move to the Golden Gate in 1958. Gallagher is a San Francisco boy who now lives in Daly City.

Potential stardom for Gallagher still is a couple of seasons away but Hank Sauer wouldn't be surprised if the six-foot, 180-pound third baseman, just turned 21, battles his way to the big time in 1968.

GALLAGHER IS ONE of a dozen raw rookies the Giants invited to spring training this season for experience. He was a phenom at Fresno in the California League last year, his first full professional season. He hit .316 and led the league in put-outs and assists.

This came as no surprise to Sal Taormina, Gallagher's mentor at Santa Clara University, or Eddie Montague who scouted Gallagher for the Giants and recommended he be signed in the first free agent draft of 1965.

SAUER, TREMENDOUSLY impressed by Gallagher's confident attitude and ability, predicted the ex-Bronco would be third baseman for the Giants "in two years at the most, maybe one."

Reminded that even the golden glove of Jim Davenport needed three years conditioning in the minors, Sauer conceded 1969 seemed a reasonable target date for Gallagher's development.

HOW DID SAUER, who always lends a hand as special coach in spring training because his major league scouting duties don't start until the season opens, rate Gallagher with Davenport?

"Gallagher's glove is not as good as Davenport's," said Sauer. "But few gloves matched Peanut's. However, I think Gallagher has better range.

"I LIKE THIS KID because he reminds me of old-time ball players, the kind who came to play. There's a cockiness about him and he's a gutsy kid who won't run away from anything at third."

Sauer's specialty in spring training is batting instruction. But Sauer never has forced any rookie to take lessons. So when Sauer spotted a minor flaw in Gallagher's batting grip, he said to the rookie: "If you want me to help you, I will."

"SURE," REPLIED THE rookie, "you were a good hitter."

The implication was clear. Gallagher hadn't any intention of taking batting lessons from just anyone. But lessons from Sauer — that was something else. After all, Sauer was voted National League MVP in 1952 for hitting 37 homers and knocking in 121 runs.

Vikings Look To Future

ST. PAUL, Minnesota (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings won't know for certain for a couple of years whether they got their money's worth out of Fran Tarkenton, but club officials insisted today that they had laid a solid foundation for sure-fire improvement of the National Football League club.

The Vikings traded Tarkenton to the New York Giants yesterday for three blue chip draft choices plus a player to be named later, or possibly a fourth high draft pick if the two clubs can't agree on the player.

"There is no doubt that this deal gives the Vikings a good foundation for the future," General Manager Jim Finks said. "We know we gave up a mighty fine quarterback, but we also know we'll be getting players who are certain to help us."

And Club President Max Winter added:

"I think this could be the building of a championship team. I think it's going to be sensational. We're going to get four of the best football players in the country in the next two years. This is how Green Bay built its championship team."

The Vikings, Winter said, "got more than a fair return for Tarkenton; Finks drove a hard bargin."

Tarkenton informed the Vikings a month ago that he would not play for them any longer, under any circumstances. He and Coach Norm Van Brocklin had reached the point where the star quarterback could no longer tolerate the division between them.

A day after Tarkenton issued his ultimatum, Van Brocklin resigned.

The Vikings still have not named a replacement for Van Brocklin, but Finks said yesterday he is down to four prime candidates and hopes to name a new coach by the first of next week.

The four still under consideration may be Phil Bengtson, No. 1 assistant of the Green Bay Packers; Bud Grant, head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League; Nick Skorich, former Philadelphia coach now a Cleveland assistant, and Bill McPeak, former Washington coach now a Detroit assistant.

Finks indicated yesterday the Vikings may use New York's No. 1 choice next week, and save the bonus pick for next year. This is because the Giants selection this year will be the No. 2 pick, and next year it could be lower if the Giants improve their record.

Baltimore has the No. 1 pick this year — obtained from New Orleans in the Gary Cuozzo trade — unless the Vikings exercise the bonus option.

Finks and chief scout Jerry Reichow have said the Vikings' main needs are for a running back and a tight end.

This led to speculation that Clinton Jones, Michigan State halfback, could be Minnesota's first pick — if the Vikings exercise the bonus or if the Colts don't take him. Or it could be Spartan end Gene Washington.

Finks and Reichow were noncommital on the Viking draft plans, saying no decisions would be made until a new coach is consulted.

However, Finks did say that the Vikings feel they have "two outstanding quarterback prospects" in Ron Vanderkelen and Bob Berry to replace Tarkenton.

Vanderkelen, one-time Wisconsin star and Rose Bowl hero, has spent four years as Tarkenton's understudy. Berry, former Oregon passing whiz, is a two-year veteran reserve who Van Brocklin held in high esteem. The Vikings also have former Minnesota star John Hankinson, who spent 1966 with the club's Des Moines farm team.

Player Tries To Win Back His 'Big' Pro Golf Status

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player, rapidly losing his status as one of golf's Big Three, is determined to get off to a better start on the pro tour this year than he did in 1966 in a futile fling in America.

The little South African, once feared as the tiny man in black, goes into the Citrus Open tomorrow without a tournament victory in the United States since he captured the U.S. Open in 1965.

"That's not surprising, since I don't play in this country very much," Player said after a practice round yesterday.

The $100,000 Orlando meet, a 72-hole test on the 6,873-yard Rio Pinar course in central Florida, marks Player's 1967 debut in the United States. He has spent nearly a week on the tree-tsudded layout, tuning up for the challenge.

"I've played every day since I got here last Friday," the 31-year-old veteran said. "It takes me at least that long to make the change from playing in my country." South Africa's golf ball is smaller.

Last year Player also started his American swing in Orlando, and he didn't even qualify for the final 36 holes after a dismal start.

"If I don't make the cut this year I will have no excuses," Player said after shooting a 70 in a practice round on the par 71 course. "I'm very satisfied with my game."

Player won two South African tournaments before flying to Orlando, but he said that doesn't mean much now.

"It's very difficult to do what I do — live far away and play in just a few tournaments in this country," he said. "It is tough to fly in and play.

"Had I lived over here like the other guys, I could have won a lot more tournaments."

Player has won more than his share of U.S. titles in past years, but he didn't win a tournament in 1966 although he went to the post 11 times.

Player isn't favored in Orlando, where Lionel Hebert is defending his title and Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Doug Sanders are top contenders.

However, Sanders, winner of the Doral crown at Miami Sunday, said he wished he didn't have to play against him.

"Gary, I wish you had waited a week to come over," Sanders told Player when they met for the first time this year after the South African farmer finished his practice round.

Bud Wilkinson May Become U.S. Lawn Tennis Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bud Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach, may become executive director of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said Wilkinson would accept the proposed full-time amateur tennis administrative position if he can work it into his other activities.

Wilkinson now is president of Lifetime Sports Foundation and a college football television analyst.

The new position and Wilkinson's appointment were porposed by Bob Kelleher of Los Angeles, newly installed president of the USLTA, which gave Kelleher authority to negotiate with Wilkinson at the annual meeting last month.

The Post quoted an unidentified source as saying Wilkinson is interested in the position if he can devote the necessary time to it and still continue his current duties.

Wilkinson was not available for comment immediately.

Tennis is one of the activities promoted by Lifetime Sports.

"He is already on the side of tennis," the Post quoted Kelleher from Los Angeles. "We want him further down the road."

Kelleher said "it is a fair statement" that Wilkinson will be the USLTA's man if the necessary arrangements can be made.

The administrative committee of the USLTA will meet in New York Friday but Kelleher said he expects no announcement. But, he said, one should be forthcoming within a month.

Oakland's Pro Team Opens Shop

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland representative of the American Basketball Association opened its offices yesterday picked its team colors and said it would announce the name of its head coach within a week.

A spokesman for the franchise in the fledgling professional league admitted that the team as yet has bought no basketballs.

The team colors will be Kelly green and gold, as chosen by singer Pat Boone, one of the owners.

Marin Golfers Nip Santa Rosa

College of Marin's golf team clipped Santa Rosa 8-7 yesterday in non-conference action at San Geronimo National golf course, paced by No. 1 man Mike Kelly, who fired a 35 on the front nine enroute to carding a low 73.

Kelly's finish earned three team-points, while No. 2 linkster Terry Young copped one match point; Tars Garth Richards (1½ points) and Ron Cannaday (2½ points), rounded out the scoring.

Today the Marin golfers were to trek to Blue Rock Golf Course in Vallejo for a practice encounter with Solano College.

S.F. Giants Move To Phoenix, But Juan Still Missing

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—With their first exhibition game of 1967 only two days away, the San Francisco Giants took today to move from Casa Grande to nearby Phoenix.

They play the Chicago Cubs in Scottsdale, Ariz., Friday with Bob Bolin, Joe Gibbon, Ron Herbel and Lindy McDaniel scheduled to pitch for the Giants against the team that finished last in 1966.

Manager Herman Franks said he also had chosen the hurlers for Saturday's contest against Cleveland in Tucson. Taking the hill will be Ray Sadecki, Art Mahaffey, Bill Henry and Frank Linzy.

Not scheduled to pitch either day is Juan Marichal, who's still holding out in the Dominican Republic. He is reported to want at least $100,000.

"We've just heard from Juan Marichal," Giants' vice president Chub Feeney said yesterday as the Giants were going through their final Casa Grande workouts. "No good. The second contract we sent him has been returned unsigned."

Feeney begged for a little relief from newsmen's questions about the 25-game winner, the Giants' only holdout.

"I'm going to phone him either today or tomorrow," Feeney said, "so don't ask what's going on. The press will be the second to know. I'm going to be the first."

NFL Fans Can Really 'Identify'

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody for a bottle cap opener in the shape and colors of a New York Giants' Helmet?

How about some bar napkins with an Atlanta Falcons insignia?

Or maybe you were looking for a Los Angeles Rams nine-transistor radio that automatically tunes to the station carrying the football game?

These and hundred of other items with tie-ins to National Football League teams are on display in a merchandizing show here that hopes to stimulate what is already a $5-million-per-year business.

Watches, wallets, books, belts, cufflinks, pens, dishware, rear-view mirrors for your car, sweaters, games, footballs, uniforms, breakfast food, dolls, jigsaw puzzles, men's toiletries, cigarette lighters — there seems to be nothing that can possibly be sold with the insignia or colors of a football team on it that isn't being sold that way.

Some 36 manufacturers are turning out the items with dozens more clamoring to get into the act, according to Carl Schroeder, merchandise director of National Football League Properties, Inc., which is owned by the NFL teams and licenses the various companies.

"People like to identify with their teams," Schroeder said. "It's sort of the old school-tie principle. We own the right to the names, insignias and colors of the teams. We are the custodians of the image of the teams, so we turn down inferior stuff."

When the company was started about five years ago, it copied many of the successful merchandising techniques of Walt Disney, a past master at turning a hot property into a number of money-making items.

"The clubs only get five per cent of the wholesale price," Schroeder said, "The companies and the retailers get most of the money. We'll never be a big money making concern."

Now, he said, baseball is beginning to look enviously at the coordinated NFL setup and may abandon its traditional method of having each team turn out its own items.

Don Drysdale Nursing His Aching Arm

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Don Drysdale, a newcomer to the horsey set but a veteran of the baseball wars, says this may be his last season with the Los Angeles Dodgers—but he's quick to add it may not be.

"I'm pitching on a year-to-year basis," the imposing 30-year-old righthander said yesterday. "I've reached the point where I have to think of my family and security.

"At the end of 1967, I'll weigh a number of factors, including the year I've had, the year the team has had and whatever offers outside of baseball come my way. Then I'll make my decision.

"This could be my last year. Or I might play five more."

Drysdale is bothered these days with a sore arm. The 6-foot-6 strongman was careful to report to camp at a svelte 207 pounds, five under his usual playing weight, but his plans for a fast start this season may have received a setback.

"I'm sure it's nothing serious," said Drysdale, then he added, "but my arm has never stayed sore this long."

Drysdale, who will receive a reported $100,000 from the Dodgers this season and raked in $110,000 last season, has several horses on his ranch in the San Fernando Valley, near Los Angeles. And recently Don purchased four Thoroughbreds.

Additionally, he has financial interest in a restaurant and thus may well be able to give up his lucrative baseball career.

In the meantime, the sore arm has forced Dodger Manager Walt Alston to scratch Drysdale from Saturday's Grapefruit League opener against the Atlanta Braves. Rookie John Duffie will take Don's place.

The Dodgers held a short workout yesterday but lost another veteran temporarily when Willie Davis was hit in the left eye with a fouled bunt.

Trainer Bill Buhler said the injury isn't serious, but it may keep the centerfielder out of today's intra-squad game.

College Of Marin Gal Triumphs At Gymnastics Meet

Linda Stevens of the College of Marin gymnastics team was a first place winner in the Northern California girls gymnastics meet held last Saturday at San Francisco State College.

Linda was first in beginning tumbling and third in beginning balance team in the meet which attracted young women from eight Northern California colleges and universities.

Toni Pelmear helped the Marin team with a second in beginning balance team; Sandy Schwarz was second in beginning uneven parallel bars and Sheila Green was third behind Sandy.

Jean Lew, top performer for the Marin team, had to compete in the advanced group and placed fourth in tumbling and uneven parallel bars.

DiMaggio Tried Switch To First; Lasted One Day

By MURRAY CHASS

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Joe DiMaggio played 1,736 games for the New York Yankees. In 1,735 he was an outfielder. In the other one he was a first baseman.

That solitary departure from custom came in 1950, the next-to-last of DiMaggio's 13-year career with the Yankees.

Some of the circumstances surrounding the move were smiliar while others were different from the current experiment in the Yankee camp in which Mickey Mantle, outfielder, is becoming — Abra Cadabra! — Mickey Mantle, first baseman.

DiMaggio, now 52 but looking not much different then he did in the late 1030s and 1940s when he made American League pitchers wish they were first basemen, recalled that day in 1950 while watching Mantle scoop up easy grounders and casually take soft throws at first.

"Joe Collins and Johnny Mize, our first basemen, weren't hitting, and they needed a spot in the outfield for Hank Bauer," the graying Yankee Clipper related. "They thought I was logically the one to play first. I think it was Casey Stengel's idea, but Dan Topping talked to me about it.

"They thought they had a chance for the pennant and I could help by playing first. I agreed to try it since I felt it might be for the good of the ball club. I don't remember exactly when it was, but a good part of the season had elapsed.

"I worked out at first base for three or four days before they played me there. It was a very hot day. I'll never forget that. My uniform was twice as soaked as anyone else's.

"That day I had every play a first baseman could have. I can't think of one that las lacking.

"I had cutoff plays, regular double plays, double plays where I had to throw to second and get back to first, a triple play that was missed, bunts, leaping off the base and tagging the runner coming down the line, going to my right for a grounder and having to run back to first. Thirteen chances in all.

"That was it for me as a first baseman, though, because Hank Bauer turned his ankle in the game. I felt a little happier when I went back to center field. First base was not my natural position, but I guess in time I might have worked it out."

White shying away from committing himself flatly on the Mantle switch, DiMaggio indicated it's not the greatest idea. At the same time, though, he feels it's better for Mantle to be learning the position now than during the season.

"It's not an easy transition for him to make," DiMaggio comented, "but it's good that he's here working on it in the spring.

"They're making the move because he's crippled. That's one disadvantage I didn't have. Will his legs hold up? That's the big question.

"He has a lot to learn. For example, he has to know where to put his feet. He knows that man is running down there with spikes on. You have to give him room, or there can be a collision and the runner can knock you for a loop.

"This is a test. No one knows if Mickey will do it."

But while Mantle is trying to do it, DiMaggio knows better than most people what he's going through.

Soccer League Scouting Asians

MANILA (AP) — The National Professional Soccer League is scouting for Asian football players in a bid to beef up the growing U.S. soccer network.

P. K. Macker, recently named league commissioner, said on the eve of his departure for the United States to assume his new office:

"This may be the greatest inducement yet for Asians to take up the sport."

Babe Ruth Baseball Signups Saturday

Signups for the Central Marin Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at Redwood High School. Eligible are boys 13 through 15 years of age residing in the Corte Madera, Larkspur, Greenbrae, Ross and Kentfield areas.

Each player must be accompanied by a parent and must submit a birth certificate and $15 entrance fee, according to league President Al Malvino.

Marin Preps Open Heavy Spring Sports Schedule

Marin County Athletic League prep teams opened the spring sports season with a heavy slate of events yesterday and had a reasonable amount of success in their initial outings.

Marin teams won two out of seven baseball games, swept a pair of tennis matches, split two swim meets while the only non-league track affair went down the drain due to a bus breakdown.

The one event where a Main County team looked like a sure bet was the Tamalpais District Track and County team looked like a sure bet was the Tamalpais District Track and Field Relays at Redwood but nobody won there when the Indians and Giants wound up in a 42-42 tie in the second running of the relays. Drake finished a distant third with 24 points winning only one event while Redwood won six and Tamalpais five. A dropped baton in the 440-yard relay with the Indians holding a big lead may have cost Tam the team victory.

In baseball, San Rafael and Redwood made the best showing, the Bulldogs nipping Galileo, 2-0, on a one-hit combo by pitchers Bill Joost and Pete King. Both runs were forced in on walks.

The giants ripped Mission, 14-7, belting out 18 hits including homes by Kenny Johnson and Joe Cooper while Kevin Wilson had four hits.

Five other MCAL teams fell, Berkeley, Terra Linda dropping a 5-1 decision to Lincoln, Tamalpais bowing to Washington, 10-2, in an abbreviated contest, Marin Catholic losing 6-3 decision to St. Mary's and Drake dropping a 4-2 contest at Petaluma.

Tam's swim team took a triangular meet with South San Francisco and Lick Wilmerding with Chuck Gorrill, Malcolm Foster pacing the victory while double victories by Bob Girvin and Paul Sagues could not avert Drake's 46-49 dual loss to Santa Rosa.

Novato and Tamalpais both made successful tennis debuts with shutouts, the Indians blanking Vallejo, 8-0, and the Hornets shutting out San Rafael Military Academy, 5-0.

could be explosive, especially if his teammates are off target, as witness his 25-point outburst against Tamalpais in a losing cause.

Six-one guard Karl Stein, although averaging only 9.4 per game, has come through time and time again with the key bucket on his patented set shots or drives off steals. Five-nine guard Stu Clemmons is the team quarterback who sets up the Pirates' controlled offense. Don Alvarado is a good shooter but, more important, is Drake's key man on defense where he draws the opposition's top scorer. He will most likely see eye to eye with Lunceford.

Drake students can obtain tickets for 50 cents at Drake High School. Adult tickets are $2 at the gate.

Seals Still Trying For Playoffs

The California Seals meet the Victoria Maple Leafs tonight, at Victoria, and to the winner goes sole possession of fourth place—a playoff position—in the Western Hockey League.

The Seals and the Los Angeles Blades are tied for fourth with 57 points. The Leafs are in fifth with 56 points.

The Seals had a chance to move ahead of Los Angeles last night when they battled Vancouver. But the Canucks shut them out 3-0. The victory moved second-place Vancouver four points ahead of the third-place Totems.

Vancouver goalie Don Simmons kicked out 21 shots to record his sixth shutout of the season. Phil Maloney, Ron Boehm and Larry Popein each scored for the Canucks.

It was the only scheduled contest in the WHL.

Shipes, Lester In Standoff

OAKLAND (UPI) — Charley Shipes, recognized by California as the world welterweight champion, and middleweight Jimmy Lester fought to a 10-round draw last night at the Oakland Auditorium.

Shipes, 149 1-2, Oakland, sent Lester, 156, San Francisco, to the canvas in the third round with a solid shot to the chin. He nearly dropped Lester again iin the fading seconds of the 10th.

Lester put Shipes to the deck in the 8th with a right to the chin, but it was not ruled an official knockdown.

Referee Rudy Ortega scored it 5-3 for Shipes, Judge Leonard Morrow had it 6-2 for Lester and Judge Elmer Costa scored it 4-4.

Shipes is now 30-1-2 while Lester's record is 24-4-1.

California lightweight champion Lovell Franklin of Oakland scored his second successive win over Don Hicks of San Francisco in a month when he knocked out the Presidio soldier in the 8th round of a scheduled non-title 10-round preliminary.

Franklin dropped Hicks in the 2nd and was ahead in all three official cards when he again floored him in the 8th. Although Hicks got up, he was wobbly and Referee Leonard Morrow halted the bout at 2:03. Both weighed 137.

Frank Niblett, 168, San Jose, scored a unanimous six-round decision over Joe Nardi, 167, San Francisco, in another preliminary while Bobby Knox, 145, Richmond, got a split decision over Willie Thomas, 145 1-2, of San Francisco in a six-rounder.

Quite A Snarl In Big Ten

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Indiana is getting ready to pack its bags, Michigan State is brooding —and Iowa hopes to sneak out the front door in front of both of them.

That's the story of the tangled Big 10 basketball race, which finally ends Saturday after a wild, unpredictable season.

Indiana and Michigan State are tied for first place with 9-4 records going into their final games Saturday.

Indiana is expected to get the bid because if both teams win their finales Saturday and remain tied, the team that has had the longest wait since its last NCAA appearance is the automatic entrant.

Since the Big 10 doesn't have playoffs, Indiana would go to the NCAA since its last trip was in 1958 and Michigan State went in 1959.

But the team being ignored in all the speculation is unheralded Iowa, which could sneak off with the bid Saturday with the right series of breaks.

The Hawkeyes kept their slim title hopes alive last night by turning back Wisconsin 90-87, in overtime. The victory eliminated Wisconsin from all chance for the title and left Iowa third with an 8-5 record.

If both Indiana and Michigan State lose Saturday and Iowa wins, the Hawkeyes would wind up in a three-way tie for first place with the Hoosiers and Spartans at 9-5.

That would then send Iowa to the NCAA tourney since the Hawkeyes haven't gone since 1956.

In the final games Saturday, Indiana hosts Purdue, Michigan State hosts Northwestern and Iowa is at Michigan.

Overall, Michigan State is 15-6, Indiana 16-7 and Iowa is 15-8. None of the teams will be considered a strong threat in the NCAA tourney.

The Big 10 winner meets the Toledo Virginia Tech winner in Evanston March 17.

The other two conferences still undecided are the Atlantic Coast and the Western Athletic. The winner of the ACC tourney this weekend will go to the NCAA tourney and the runnerup to the NIT. In the Western Athletic, Brigham Young and Wyoming will have a playoff for the NCAA bid.

The other 20 teams have already won their spots in the NCAA tourney and the seven first round games will be played Saturday night. The seven winners will then join nine other clubs in the "sweet 16" for the quarter-finals March 17-18 at College Park, Md., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan. and Corvallis, Ore.

The four semi-finals, or to be more realistic, UCLA and the other three semi-finalists, converge on Louisville March 24-25 for the finals.

Knick Dave Stallworth's Career May Be Over At 25

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Knickerbocker forward Dave Stallworth went through a series of heart tests at St. Clare's Hospital today that will determine the extent of his future in pro basketball.

Stallworth, a 6-7 210-pound former All America from Wichita State and the Knicks first draft choice in 1965, is under the care of two heart specialists for treatment of a "posterior coronary."

Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, the Knicks team physicians, said it would be four or five days before the tests could be evaluated. Yanagisawa said Stallworth was through for the season and his pro career could be finished.

Stallworth was the team's fifth leading scorer this season with 989 points and a 13.0 average. His 472 rebounds was fourth best on the team. In 1965-66, the year in which the Knicks passed over sensational Rick Barry in the college draft, Stallworth netted 1,004 points.

The loss of Stallworth diminishes New York playoff chances just when it gets a crack at the National Basketball Association post-season games for the first time in eight years.

"Stallworth suffered a heart attack," Yanagisawa said in a statement after he examined the Knick player. "He felt twinges Saturday night. It takes a couple of days sometimes to show up on a cardiogram."

The 25-year-old Stallworth complained of chest pains before a game wih the San Francisco Warriors at Fresno, Saturday. He told coach Dick McGuire that he felt the pain as he was taking practice shots.

McGuire kept Stallworth out of the starting lineup but permitted him to see about four minutes of action midway through the first period when the player said he thought he felt better.

The pain returned and Stallworth was taken to a hospital where a cardiogram failed to show anything alarming. He played 10 minutes against San Francisco on Sunday, without ill effect.

Today is Wednesday, March 8, the 67th day of 1967 with 298 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was born on this day in 1841.

On this day in history:

In 1864, Ulysses S. Grant, about to be put in command of all Union armies, arrived in Washington for the first time.

In 1917, strikes and riots in St. Petersburg touched off the Russian revolution.

In 1944, French authorities in Algiers adopted an ordinance giving French Moslems in Algeria the same rights as the French non-Moslems.

In 1962, the House defeated a bill which would have increased its permanent membership from 435 to 438.

A thought for the day—English writer Samuel Butler once said: "The man who lets himself get bored is even more contemptible than the bore."

TIME AND TIDE

South took the ace of hearts and lef a club at once to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

East won with the king of clubs, cashed a heart trick and then returned the king of diamonds.

TOOK THE ACE

South took the ace of diamonds, led a club to the ace and ruffed a club with the king of spades.

He continued with the ace of spades, a spade to dummy's nine, and another club ruff.

He could then lead his last trump to dummy's queen and cash the last club.

The only trouble was that declarer wound up with two losing diamonds in each hand and that he had already lost two tricks.

Down one.

SURE TO LOSE

The trouble with South's plan was the club finesse.

East needed all of the missing kings and queens for his vulnerable opening bid.

The club finesse was therefore sure to lose, and there was no advantage in taking it.

South should play a low club from both hands at the second trick.

East wins with the 10 of clubs, takes a heart and knocks out the ace of diamonds.

Now South leads a club to dummy's ace, dropping the unguarded king. South ruffs a low club, and now there are two good clubs in dummy instead of only one.

South draws three rounds of trumps ending in dummy, and discards low diamonds on the queen and eight of clubs.

This cautious line of play wins no medals, but it does bring in the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer at your left, opens with one heart, and your partner doubles.

The next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 5 4 2
♡ 8 7 5 2
◇ 10 3
♣ J 9 7 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

The weaker the hand, the more essential it is to respond to partner's takeout double.

If he has a sound takeout double, you will not be in trouble at two clubs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Contract Needs Supplement

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am single, 47, making $96 a week. I have $5,000 in savings, $2,000 in stocks and will some day retire with Social Security and a small pension. Two years ago, I purchased an annuity which is to pay me $30 a month at age 65. The yearly payment is $236. I am undecided whether to continue annuity payments because of inflation. If I drop out, I would not get my money back for ten years. Should I keep it or let it go?" W. E.

A. You seem like a person with a good deal of common sense and I will try to answer you in the same vein. It is perfectly true that the money you are paying into an annuity will probably be repaid with dollars that are of less real value. That has been the history of our economy for the past 100 years and I can see nothing in the future that is likely to change it.

The other side of the coin is that less than five per cent of your income is going into an annuity. When you are 65, your guaranteed income for life will represent a very high return on the money you have paid in. I would keep the annuity, provided you can supplement it with a similar program in sound growth stocks.

Q. "I am 53 and own the enclosed list of stocks. Do you recommend any changes?" G. M.

A. I commend you for putting together a very high-grade portfolio, too long for specific comment. There are no suggestions I can make to improve the quality of your holdings. I particularly like your position in Continental Telephone and General Telephone, which have been growing faster than the Bell System. Your investment in Bristol-Myers is disproportionate. This is one of the best stocks for growth but I would diversify by switching part of this holding into American Express and Avon Products.

INCOME TAX FACTS

How To Deduct Moving Expenses

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Did you move at your employer's request or because you have a new employer? If so, you may be able to deduct the cost of moving.

Your new job location must be at least 20 miles further from your old home than the old job was.

Wikel

You must be employed full time for at least 39 weeks during the 12-month period immediately after the move. You do not have to work for one employer for the 39 weeks, nor must the weeks be consecutive. It is necessary only that you be employed full time and live within the general commuting area of such place of employment.

If you move and pay the expenses in the last part of the year and it looks as though you will be employed for 39 weeks out of the 12 months following your move, you can go ahead and claim the deduction. However, if you don't work for the full 39 weeks, you must include whatever you deducted last year in your next year's income.

If your employer pays your moving expenses, you can deduct them up to the amount your employer pays, even if you are not working full time. If your moving expenses are more than your employer paid, you may deduct the excess only if you can meet the 20-mile test and are employed full time.

Deductible moving expenses are the reasonable costs of moving yourself, your family and your household goods and personal effects from your old home to your new home. Costs of meals and lodging for you and your family while en route from your old to your new home are part of your moving expense.

Living expenses prior to the move or following the arrival in the area of the new residence are not deductible.

The cost of moving household goods and personal effects includes the actual transportation, packing and crating and in-transit storage.

Expenses in excess of a reasonable amount, under the circumstances of the particular move, may not be deducted.

Moving expenses are deductible from gross income in computing adjusted gross income, so you can deduct your moving expenses regardless of whether you elect to itemize or not.

Stocks End Higher In Brisk Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today but below its best level of the session. Trading was active.

Volume for the first four hours was 8.35 million shares, compared with .679 million Tuesday.

The market rose from the start. The ticker tape was late briefly while prices were strongest. The list was rebounding after a couple of days of indecision and was spurred by some bullish news about specific corporations.

Pan American World Airways was heavily traded and up nearly 3 points on news of its 2-for-1 stock split proposal and plans for a higher dividend.

American Telephone also was active. After an initial gain on a published report that its rate of return seemed unlikely to be affected by the government investigation of its rate structure, AT&T, erased its advance and eased.

Sperry Rand, ahead about 1½, loomed as the most active stock.

Also active, Essex Wire climbed nearly 4, Gulf & Western 2, American Photocopy, AVCO, Fairchild Hiller and Avent a point or more each.

M-G-M was down about 1½, cutting its original loss as profits were taken on its previous rise in anticipation of a management victory in the proxy fight. News of management's triumph came in the morning.

Alco dropped 2 and IBM 1.

Ahead about a point were Chrysler, Eastman Kodak, General Electric and Owens-Illinois Glass.

Prices were higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Crocker National Declares Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO — Crocker-Citizens National Bank shareholders at their annual meeting here have approved a 10 per cent stock dividend.

Subject to the approval of the comptroller of the currency, the dividend will be paid on March 24 to shareholders of record as of today.

It would increase to 10,347,832 the total number of Crocker-Citizens shares outstanding, of the par value of $10 each, and the capital stock to $103,478,320.

Kaiser Declares Quarterly Dividend

OAKLAND — Kaiser Steel Corp.'s board of directors has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share of common stock, payable on March 31 to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 15.

The board also declared quarterly dividends of 36½ cents per share on the preferred stock and $1.4375 per share on the 5¾ per cent convertible preference stock for the same dates.

American Airlines Reports Business Up

SAN FRANCISCO — American Airlines passenger traffic out of San Francisco during February surpassed the same month last year by 19 per cent.

New York business according to Frank M. Burg, district sales manager was up 26 per cent, Dallas 24 per cent and Phoenix 19 per cent.

Record Sears Sales

CHICAGO — Sears, Roebuck and Co. has reported record high sales for February, the first month of its 1967 fiscal year. Gross slaes for the month were $454,769,959. This represented an increase of $16,231,487 or 3.7 per cent over volume of $438,538,472 in February, 1966.

TV Firm Signs For Space In Red Hill Shopping Center

Another lease has been signed for space in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo—this will be Red Hill Television and Electronics, scheduled for occupancy sometime in May.

It is a second outlet for Ronald Lari and Peter Straube of San Rafael, who opened their first store—Town and Country Village TV in Strawberry—only last November. They have done well there and have recently been appointed to service Sony electronic equipment. Both were previously with Klein's TV.

Lari is also a relief announcer on Radio KTIM; Straube, a native of Germany, is experienced in European electronic equipment.

They will have Ralph W. Hobrecker of Fairfax as manager in San Anselmo—he also is a former Klein employee. The store will be located between Long's Drug Store and the Safeway Store.

ALSO TO COME to Red Hill Shopping Center will be a new barbershop of Daniel Chan, who now has one on Market Street, San Francisco. At one time he was in Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael.

Bucknum Clark

NEWLY APPOINTED to officer status at Bank of Marin as an assistant cashier is Jack E. Bucknum. He will handle public relations, new accounts and assist in launching the bank's new master charge credit program this year.

Bucknum is from a pioneer Marin family that settled here over 60 years ago. For the past 10 years he has been in the aerospace field and he retired in January as a commander in the Navy. He is an experienced jet pilot and served as a White House aide under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. A graduate of San Rafael public schools and College of Marin, he worked at one time in the circulation and mailing departments of the Independent-Journal.

At its last stockholders meeting Bank of Marin re-elected all eight directors.

LAREW M. CLARK of Mill Valley has been appointed installment loan officer at the Montgomery - Sacramento office of Crocker - Citizens National Bank in San Francisco. He first joined the bank in 1952 and has served at several of its San Francisco branch offices.

RONALD J. MINARCINI of San Rafael has been appointed assistant to the vice president, steel industry projects, of Kaiser Engineers at Oakland headquarters. He has had varied experience in engineering and construction, including working on such projects as the trans-bay tube of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

FORMER ROSS RESIDENT David N. Plant, general manager of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, continues as president of the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, Ltd. and William H. Johnson of Tiburon, vice president of Tiburon, vice president of Crocker-Citizens National Bank, remains as vice president. He was also re-elected to a three-year term as a director.

Ernest J. Young of Novato, vice president of Bank of America was also re-elected a director for the same term, and Carl R. Carlsen of Sleepy Hollow, president of the San Francisco Volkswagen agency Carl R. Carlsen, Inc., is a new three-year director. Charles R. Thurber of Terra Linda continues as general manager of the bureau and as its vice president.

Thurber reported that the bureau performed a total of 70,138 services last year. Of these, 44,099 were consumer reports. Majority of inquiries were about private educational organizations, with automobile firms, television firms, charities, magazine solicitations, appliances, real estate, business opportunities and floor coverings as other major areas of inquiry.

Director Named

SAN DIEGO—The board of Pacific Southwest Airlines has elected Jerome W. Hull, executive vice president of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., as a member of the board, and named William R. Shimp as executive vice president.

Drilling Dividend

LOS ANGELES — Pike Corp. of America, a major offshore drilling contractor, has reported that earnings for the year ended Dec. 31 rose to $3,536,521, or $4.40 per share, compared with $1,429,560, or $1.89 per share in 1965.

No Tax Relief As Yet But Better Years Ahead

The New Administration's economy campaign in Sacramento, while drastic in part, is just the medicine needed to shape up a bureaucracy that has been entrenched for more than eight years.

The original reaction to Governor Reagan's budget cut edict and university tuition proposal was one of shock and consternation.

"It's impossible," said the critics. "He can't do it. He's wrecking the education system of the state."

Since then, the Governor has reluctantly conceded that some of the reform programs he had hoped to initiate immediately may have to wait.

But the initial shock treatment was valuable in that existing bureaucracy has been made to realize that even long-established programs are subject to review and cutbacks. In a general belt-tightening, no program is sacred.

Every department has been forced to make a microscopic search for any excess expense that could be eliminated or deferred.

If the new Administration had taken less drastic measures or displayed less determination, the search for economy by each department would have been routine and perfunctory, and the result might have been business as usual.

The new economy move will have little effect on the taxpayers' pocketbooks this year. In fact, Californians probably face at least one more round of increased taxes to meet current deficits and to lower the property taxes. But if we can get over this initial hurdle, the economies being ordered this year should start bringing results in two or three years.

The current tug-of-war between the forces that represent liberal government spending and those calling for bare bones economy should result in a healthy middle course.

Even the Democrats are beginning to acknowelge that some of the spending programs during the past eight years may have been administered too liberally.

The Republican Administration, too, realizes that its 10 per cent across-the-board budget cuts cannot apply to all departments, and that government services to meet basic human needs cannot be reduced by any arbitrary formula.

This is bi-partisan politics operating on a practical basis. We think it's a healthy sign.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

TWO NEW USES FOR LIGHTNING

Two ways to harness lightning — one for peace and one for warfare — were recently patented.

The military use consists of seeding clouds with metalized nylon threads which carry electric current much as raindrops and ice crystals do. This would enable an army to direct lightning away from its own troops and onto an aggressor.

The second method was devised by the Atomic Energy Commission. By directing a proton beam into the centers of clouds, a path can be made through which a charge can be "bled off" before it builds up strength. Lightning bolts would thus travel down the beam, regulating the distribution and amount of rainfall.

With each of the countless blessings that God places at mankind's disposal, there is an accompanying choice.

The use to which humanity puts each successive discovery is an index of how near or far we are from the goal that God wishes for all of us.

"He before all things, and in Him all things hold together." (Colossians 1:17)

Grant, O Holy Spirit, wisdom to the world's leaders in using the power at their disposal.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan, Post Differ On Budget, But Both Try To Help Taxpayer

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The premise that the pursuit of government under a republic which develops into a democracy inevitably leads to socialism is a frightening thing to contemplate.

Yet at least one state senator, who rather would not be quoted, feels this is today's path in the execution of state affairs.

Both the administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan and the state legislature are confronted with the desires of the people of the state. With a million vote majority, the electorate made known clearly that the majority wanted two things. First, at least a holding of the line of expenditures, and second, avoidance of new taxes.

BOTH THE administration and the legislature would like to fulfill these mandates. But both now admit it can't be done. Expenditures may be curtailed in small amounts, but will be materially larger than in previous years. Taxes are scheduled to increase as much as $900 million, the exact figures yet to come.

Thus, if the old phrase coined by Erasmus back in 1500 A.D., "betwixt the Devil and deep sea," and much overworked ever since, ever applied to a situation in a more literal manner, it is not a matter of record here.

THE LEGISLATURE finds itself squarely between the mandate of the people and the so-called "necessity" of maintaining the functions of government in something like the status quo.

The administration feels it has an obligation to carry out the campaign statements of Governor Reagan, which resulted in his million majority, yet thwarting accomplishment of this purpose looms the hydraheaded monster of state government which continues its demands for more taxes to permit the body of bureaucracy to wax fatter.

BOTH LEGISLATORS and the administration face retribution at the polls two and four years hence, unless they can continue to sell the public on the idea that big government is necessary, and that the public should continue to pay through the nose to satisfy the whimseys of theorists and the superfluities written into the laws and the constitution over the past couple of decades.

The senator who commented on the situation allowed as how the legislature would be somewhat thankful for ideas which might alleviate the situation.

His mail, he said, is reflecting an enormous demand for budget reductions, but that not much comment has come in yet concerning additional taxes.

WHICH IS easily understandable. The public as yet has not been confronted with any new tax program, and the impact on the individual pocketbook is yet to come. Especially when state income taxes are increased, as they must be to meet deficits and the demand for additional expenditures.

Asked what's going to happen when the public no longer can afford to meet the demands imposed on the taxpayers by a voracious government, the senator said this is inevitably the time when socialism takes over, which would mean government running the lives of the people it once was designated to serve.

ALL OF WHICH marks the penalty for taxing and spending oneself in bankruptcy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Kentfield Firemen Given Strong Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A word of praise for the Kentfield Volunteer fire dept. At a recent fire at our home (Sat., Feb. 25) this force composed of only eight paid professionals and approximately 30 volunteers showed a speed, efficiency, and professional skill that should be the envy of some big city fire forces I have seen.

Their quick knowledgeable actions in protecting our furniture and possessions from water and debris while quenching the fire in amazingly short time held the damage to an absolute minimum.

Their fast, courteous, efficient clean-up after the fire and subsequent thorough checking and follow-up cannot be praised too highly.

Thanks to all of them.

Community Mental Health Setup Flayed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Why does Marin County stand out like a sore thumb in the care it provides for mentally or emotionally ill citizens who cannot afford private psychiatric services?

The rate of admissions to state mental hospitals from our county has zoomed up over all the other 18 counties which have Community Mental Health Services under the Short-Doyle Act. and which also have in-patient psychiatric beds in local hospitals.

"Asylum care" is no longer acceptable or even economical — for each person sent to a state hospital costs the county many times what care given in the community costs. . . . It's easy enough to send a person to a state hospital, but to get him back and functioning in his community again is a much harder, often impossible task once his ties are broken.

Treatment for mental and emotional disorders, given as early as possible, close to home, so that family, job and social relationships are not destroyed, has become a recognized goal in achieving the best possible recovery. These are the aims of the Short-Doyle Act in giving funds to communities — to keep people out of state hospitals.

Yet Marin County has sent more children and adults into overcrowded, woefully understaffed wards of these hospitals since receiving these funds that it did before. What is wrong with our Community Mental Health Services that even counties with no psychiatric beds in local hospitals make our record deplorable?

Who will speak out for better treatment of the poor mentally ill? They cannot speak for themselves for who would listen? And all too often they are banished out of sight. The parents of mentally ill children who still wait for an adequate treatment program for children are silenced by the stigma we have placed on them.

There is no one but the concerned citizens of our county who can see that our mentally ill get the help they need and deserve.

Fair Housing Needs Support

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Thursday, March 3, 1967, your paper announced that L/C Larry E. Ross, 21, a resident of Marin County, was killed in action last Tuesday in Vietnam.

This man died in honor for what he believed in as a human being. While dying, his public representatives: Don Clausen, Congress; Jack McCarthy, California State Senate; and William Bagley, Assemblyman; are doing their best to defeat or modify legislation that has been designed to offer this man and his race some protection in buying a home or renting an apartment.

This man died in honor and it would seem to me that the very least these gentlemen could do is to offer some measure of honor to his people as their representatives.

Marine Calls For Viet Backing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have been a resident of Marin County for about 20 of my 22 years. I still keep up with your local news by way of a subscription furnished by my parents.

It has always been interesting to read letters-to-the-editor on the Vietnam situation. Due to my present position I would like to express my own views on the subject.

I am now facing a possible change of climate from Southern California to —Southern Vietnam. We are indeed closer to the situation than those who are still civilians resting comfortably at home. There are many such people who say "Appease!" and "Stop the war!" while reading of the casualties of American troops. Granted, this is understandable. However, those people who tenaciously cling to protesting constantly about halting the war are actually protesting their right to protest! The Communist plot to dominate the world is based on a carefully planned schedule. Were the United States to pull out of Vietnam and Southeast Asia, the war against communist aggression would have to be eventually fought on our own soil—the possibility does exist, far-fetched as it may seem. It sounds rather ludicrous to the home observer, but how would you like to see an amphibious invasion at Stinson Beach? Or paratroopers over Lucas Valley? Admittedly, this sounds preposterous, but it's the idea of the whole thing.

Being now in the armed forces, many of us have come from a remote bewilderment of the reason for fighting to a silent understanding of the price of freedom. We too want to sit at home on Saturday night and watch Jackie Gleason; or Willie Mays and the Giants in person—but it is for these very things, in their innocence and simplicity, which we fight for because these are the American way. We are fighting to support you and make it possible for you to be able to protest in the first place; will you support us?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE U.N. representative from a remote nation was being interviewed at Kennedy Airport by the press. "Good flight, sir?" asked one reporter. The representative smiled broadly and answered in a series of peculiar noises—a honk, a screech, an oink, a whistle — then concluded in perfect English, "Just about perfect, I should say, save for some slight turbulence as we came in for a landing." To the next question he replied with the same weird set of noises and a concluding, "You don't catch me off base on that one, gentlemen."

Finally, one baffled reporter demanded, "Where did you learn to speak such flawless English, sir?" The representative answered, "Shortwave radio."

TWO LISSOME surfboarders were sunning themselves on a virtually deserted California beach. "This spot is so secluded," noted one, "that I believe we could go nude into the water." "What's the point," asked the other. "There's nobody to watch us."

Bobby's Peace Plan Carries Potential Success, Grave Risk

WASHINGTON — In the hope of getting North Vietnam to talk peace, Sen. Robert Kennedy is proposing that the United States do again exactly what President Johnson has done twice already — without success.

The proposal should not lightly be dismissed.

It has a potential of success and it carries with it a grave risk for the United States.

BOTH ASPECTS — its possible value and its great danger—need to be lucidly appraised.

Senator Kennedy urges that we test the stated readiness of Hanoi to negotiate "by halting the bombardment and saying we are ready to negotiate within the week."

President Johnson has said this twice and done it twice —once for a week and again for 37 days. Each time Hanoi called it "blackmail" and a "hoax."

Might it bring a different result if tried again? Before pointing up the little recognized risk which such a one-sided de-escalation of the war involves for the U.S., let's examine whether circumstances are sufficiently different now to expect a different result.

THEY ARE appreciably different.

The war is going more favorably for us in South Vietnam. We are convinced and perhaps Hanoi realizes that it cannot win militarily. The political outlook in Saigon is improved. The regime is more stable, the new constitution is nearly drafted, there will almost certainly be an elected civilian government before the end of the year. Peking is an uncertain ally.

And there is one other, perhaps even more important, new factor. Kennedy directs his plea more toward Moscow than toward Hanoi. He proposes it "to test the sincerity of statements by Premier Kosygin" that, in return for suspending the bombing, negotiations would be promptly forthcoming.

HANOI HAS never said so. It has said talks "might" be forthcoming, "could" be forthcoming, never anything more positive.

Quite possibly Moscow is more the place to test for peace talks than Hanoi. The reason is that with the turmoil and chaos in Red China Moscow is now providing 80 per cent of the military supplies needed to carry on the war against South Vietnam and in consequence has the means to tell Hanoi at any moment that the time to negotiate has come. (It can force North Vietnam to de-escalate the war radically by radically de-escalating the flow of its military supplies.

UNDER THESE circumstances it is no longer open to the Soviets to deal with the question of peace talks only in words; they can no longer say, "Well, we tried, but there was nothing we could do." Moscow now has the ability to keep the war going or to bring it to the conference table.

This is why the new ingredient on which Kennedy is relying is the potential willingness — and ability — of Moscow to make good on its statement that ending the bombing would mean the beginning of talks.

But there is a very big risk indeed, and at this point Kennedy is vague and fuzzy and uncertain.

THE DANGER is this: there is no assurance whatsoever that the beginning of peace talks would mean any cessation at all in the North Vietnamese-Vietcong war against South Vietnam.

Based on all past experience with Communist tactics, there is every reason to expect that Hanoi would keep up the infiltration and the fighting all during the negotiations. That is exactly what happened in Korea.

This means that, if we end the deterrent to infiltration as a price for getting peace talks started, Hanoi will be better able to keep up the infiltration while negotiating.

Isn't that dangerously one-sided?

Moscow Missions Under Deep Study

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Despite the arrival of more sophisticated Soviet weapons in Vietnam, there is growing talk within the Johnson administration of Secretaries McNamara, Gardner and Rusk undertaking special presidential missions to Moscow.

These proposed visits, now being discussed with the Russians, would involve talks on Communist China, a slow-down in defensive-offensive missile development, and a joint worldwide population control program.

WITH ADVANCE White House approval, Secretary Dean Rusk broached the idea this year with the Soviets during an unpublicized meeting here with Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

As a first step in initiating the new thaw in U.S.-Soviet relations, Rusk proposed spring trips by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner.

If these visits prove mutually advantageous, Secretary Rusk said he would like to travel to Moscow later in the year to explore other areas for joint cooperation.

CONGRESSIONAL leaders, briefed on the U.S. proposal, say it is the direct outgrowth of a cable from Ambassador Llewllyn Thompson on his talks with Premier Kosygin following the latter's visit to London.

In reporting directly to President Johnson, Thompson stressed that Kosygin would look favorably on opening of high-level discussions "on controlling missiles, populations, and China" once the Senate ratifies the U.S.-Soviet consular agreement.

Thompson, chief architect of the "settlement, reconciliation and cooperation" policy outlined in the recent London speech of presidential assistant Walt Rostow, forecast in his message "a new area of Soviet-U.S. cooperation" after the consular pact goes into effect.

THE VETERAN ambassador's report, which administration officials are privately crediting as having influenced Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., to drop his opposition and support the treaty, was shown to legislative leaders last week.

In an unpublicized meeting at the White House the legislators were told the Russians are now exerting their influence to try to prod North Vietnam officials in agreeing to Easter talks on how a Vietnam cease-fire could be arranged and prisoners of war exchanged.

After pledging everyone to complete secrecy, President Johnson revealed secret information about Moscow-Peking relations which Senator Dirksen later described as "the most important information about Russia since the Yugoslavia-Soviet break."

AT THE TIME Tito announced his public break with Stalin, Dirksen was one of the legislators who had been briefed in advance by former President Truman. That briefing so impressed Dirksen that he supported the Truman Administration's decision to provide economic and military aid to Tito's communist regime.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

All Public Bodies, New And Old, Should Read Brown Act

Last week, I received in the mail, as usual, an agenda for the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission. Two weeks before that, when I did not receive an agenda, I learned there had been some misunderstanding as to whether the city office or the commission, was to get out the notice.

WHEN THIS commission first met on Aug. 31, last year, its members set the commission's regular meeting on the first Thursday and said, "Temporarily, the commission will also meet on the third Thursday . . ." according to the commission minutes. "Temporarily" was not subsequently defined.

The commissioners claimed they all knew they intended to meet on Feb. 16. At the unannounced meeting, they passed a budget (for $18,500) and a resolution rejecting a green belt in a subdivision as "unfit for public use."

IN TALKING to some of the commissioners afterwards, I couldn't help noticing they were apparently unfamiliar with the provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Sometimes members of public bodies talk about the Brown Act as "a threat."

True, it does contain a penalty clause in which a member of a public body who attends a meeting of that body where he knows action was taken in violation of the act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

But, because of this incident, I realized also how much valuable information the Brown Act contains for newly formed public bodies.

The real spirit of the Brown Act is in its beginning phrase of intent.

It states first that "public commissions, boards and councils and other public agencies in this state exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business." The intent of the law regarding these bodies is that "their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly."

BECAUSE: "The people of this state do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know."

Some members of the commission told me they were "just going to forget the whole thing." I hope, though, they won't forget, in the future, they constitute a public body and are bound by the provisions of the Brown Act, and can also benefit from the information in this chapter of the Government Code, on orderly and legal procedures.

It outlines how to set up regular meetings, set special meetings, how to adjourn and continue meetings, how to hold closed sessions (under certain limitations).

IN A FEW brief minutes, at their meeting last Thursday, the commission could have rescinded its actions of the unannounced meeting and cleared itself publicly from any hint of suspicion that those actions might be partly or entirely illegal, since the meeting had not been publicly announced.

Another alternative the commission had, on Feb. 16, was to postpone its meeting when its members learned no agendas or other public notices had been sent out, rather than to risk having to rescind their actions.

Careful reading of the Brown Act should be a "must" for all new public bodies and older ones not yet familiar with it, not just for the attorneys of those bodies.

ALTHOUGH parks and recreation commissions are recommending bodies, they are included in those defined as "legislative bodies" in the Brown Act. It makes a lot of sense for the Belvedere and Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commissions to begin working with the Reed School iDstrict and the Tiburon Peninsula Club toward a community recreation program for youngsters and teen-agers. The combined strength of these groups may result in a fine community recreation plan for all ages. The Tiburon Peninsula, needs such a plan.

Case Of The Student Who Came In From The Cold

WASHINGTON — It was bound to happen that the CIA would come to be blamed for everything. The other day a friend of mine received a very unfavorable report on his son's college grades. When the son came home for the weekend, his father decided to call him on it.

"This is the worst report I've ever seen," the father said.

"It's not my fault. I was ordered to get low grades so the other kids would trust me."

"Who ordered you?"

"I CAN,T SAY, but if you knew you'd be proud of me."

"Well, I'm not proud of you. It says here you've cut classes 35 times in the past three months, that you've been seen in bars every night and you were caught twice trying to get into the girls' dormitory."

"Somebody's got to do the dirty work if this country's going to remain strong. It's all right to say we've got to play by the rules, but the other side isn't playing by the rules."

"What other side?"

"NEVER MIND what other side. It's kids like me that are saving people like you from slave labor camps."

"Don't give me that double talk," the father said angrily. "It says in the report that you cheated on three exams."

"To the school it's cheating; to me it's using every means to achieve my democratic goals. In a life and death struggle you can't play by the Marquis of Queensbury rules."

"All right, but what about these three drunk driving charges?"

"I was following another student's car and he was drunk. Since I was weaving, too, the police thought I was drunk as well."

"Didn't they give you a sobriety test?"

"Yes, but I had taken several drinks just before I was caught so the other student wouldn't know I was following him. It will all come out in Allen Dulles' next book if you'll just be patient."

"I've heard some cock-and-bull stories in my time, but tthis takes the cake. The dean of men said you were also involved in an off-campus LSD party which turned into an orgy."

"WELL, YOU'RE not going to learn anything in the school library, at least not anything of importance. There were certain people who wanted me to go to that party. My attendance was approved by the highest echelons of our government. You don't think I'd go to an off-campus orgy on my own?"

"I don't know what to think any more."

"The trouble is that the school reports only on my failures, but they're duty-bound not to say anything about my successes. If you ask me, they're making a tempest out of a teapot."

"I'd like to make a tempest out of your teapot," the father said. "The report winds up by saying that it doubts, on the basis of your behavior, that it wants you to return to school."

"IT'S ALL A PLOT, Dad. Didn't you see "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold'? I'm supposed to be discredited by everybody so the other side will ask me to come over to their side. The school's kicking me out into the cold just like they did to Richard Burton in the movie."

"Do you mind telling me who the other side is?"

"They haven't told me yet. I suppose it's Harvard."

Phone Directory Deadline Nears

Friday is the last day on which Marin County telephone customers may make changes in the alphabetical section of the 1967 directory, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced today.

The cover of the new directory will feature a color photo taken from the shores of Angel Island looking across Racoon Strait toward Belvedere and Tiburon with Mount Tamalpais in the background.

The directory is scheduled for distribution next month.

The term "mach" used to describe the speed of sound was taken from the name of Ernst Mach, Czech-born German scientist who contributed to the study of sound.
